GUNFIRE HALTS MINE STRIKERS' ILLINOIS MARCH

Advance Guard of Army of 15,000 Turned Back by Deputies.

100 IN WAGE PROTEST MOVE ARE CLUBBED

Repelled Contingent Rejoins Main Group at Border of Franklin County.

Christopher, Ill., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Firing shots and wielding clubs, a force of approximately 500 deputy sheriffs early tonight defeated the first attempt of miners to enter Franklin County. About 100 of the marchers were clubbed and shots were fired at their automobile tires, but no one was wounded by the bullets.

Only the advance contingent of the strikers' caravan was involved in the initial clash on Franklin County soil, which occurred at Mulkeytown, a small crossroads village about 2 miles within the western Franklin County line.

Earlier the deputy sheriffs had attempted to stop the oncoming strikers at the county line, but because there was no space in which to turn around the automobiles and trucks, they allowed the marchers to proceed on to Mulkeytown, where the determined move to repulse the invaders was made.

Machine Guns Not Fired.

The force of deputy sheriffs was armed with about a dozen machine guns, but they were not fired. Shotguns blazed at the outskirts of the crossroads village as the officers made a determined stand to turn back the caravan.

Some of the deputy sheriffs, virtually all of them citizens recruited to repel the invasion, wielded only clubs or billiard cues with which they were armed. Many shots were fired into the air by the officers. The windshields of several of the strikers' automobiles were broken, mostly by clubs.

Approximately 150 automobiles comprised the advance contingent which was turned back westward.

Rejoin Main Group.

The strikers who had been repelled drove back to the Perry-Franklin county line to rejoin the main group of the strikers' caravan, estimated to include approximately 15,000 men, with some women among the group.

Within a short time after the clash, the entire caravan was back in Perry County, but still near the Franklin County line, where their leaders were holding a parley. Deputy sheriffs still maintained their barricade at Mulkeytown.

Stopped earlier by Perry County officers just south of Duquoin, and turned eastward onto the highway which led them to Mulkeytown, the strikers apparently were effectively cut off from reaching Dowell, a vil-

Chaplin Sues to Halt Film Career of Sons

Los Angeles, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Charlie Chaplin, motion picture comedian, filed suit today in an attempt to halt film careers planned for his two small sons by his former wife, Lita Grey Chaplin.

His attorneys petitioned Superior Judge H. Parker Wood to hold a hearing Saturday morning on an injunction and modification of an interlocutory divorce decree that gave Mrs. Chaplin complete custody of the children and the right to place them in pictures if she wishes.

Mrs. Rheem to File Reno Divorce Suit

Mental Cruelty to Form Basis of Plea to Be Entered Today.

Mrs. Alice Wardman Rheem will file suit for divorce from her husband, Edmund D. Rheem, now serving a seven-year sentence for embezzlement, in Reno today, according to a message received here last night. The papers will charge mental cruelty.

Mrs. Rheem, daughter of Harry Wardman, Washington builder, went to Reno some time ago. Papers in the divorce suit make provision for the support and custody of a daughter, Nance, 11.

Rheem was sentenced to seven years in Lorton on a charge of embezzlement of $162,150 of unpaid notes from the now defunct Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. He started serving his term July 11, 1931, and was made prison bookkeeper. After the trial Mrs. Rheem, with a friend, started the Alice & Eloise dress shop on Connecticut avenue. The shop was closed for the summer when she went to Reno.

SEVERAL BADLY CUT IN BLOCKADE CLASH

Iowa Farmers Hurl Timber Through Officers' Car; Disorders Grow.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Three officers were cut by flying glass and numerous farmers, among them some women and children, were also slashed tonight in an encounter between authorities and farm strikers at an intersection of Highway No. 34 1 mile south of the city limits at 8 o'clock tonight.

Policemen Mosher, McTwiggan and Watson, who had been deputized by Sheriff Lainson, together with Lieut. Col. Henry C. Hall, chemical warfare officer on the staff of Brig. Gen. Matthew Tinley, of the Iowa National Guard, and Deputy Game Warden C. H. Pangborn drove through the crowd of strikers with cans of tear gas spouting from the running board.

The crowd scattered hurriedly with eyes and noses running and choking for breath as the car went through the first time. As it turned to go back through another section of the crowd, however, three railroad ties were hurled through the closed windows of the car.

Col. Hall was cut about the head, while Pangborn and Watson were cut in the face.

Genevieve Mauck, Council Bluffs girl reporter, was severely gassed when caught in the attack.

Hunger hovered tonight on the flanks of the farm strikers, menacing their strength in northwestern Iowa.

At the same time, Sheriff P. A. Lainson here and officials in other communities moved to curb what they termed some of the felonious

One Textile Strike Settled in Carolina

750 Are Idle in Another Walkout Over Recent Wage Reduction.

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—One of two textile strikes in North Carolina mills was settled today, 24 hours after it began, but the management and the strikers apparently were at an impasse in the other.

The strike settled was that of the employes of the Spencer Mills at Spindale, who walked out yesterday demanding the dismissal of A. F. Burgess, who recently came from Providence, R. I., as superintendent. Harry Kilpatrick, chairman of the employes committee, announced the strikers would return to work tomorrow. He said the management had employed a new weaveroom "boss" who would arrive Monday. Burgess, however, will be retained as superintendent.

The Hanna Picket Mill at Rockingham, N. C., whose 750 employes struck demanding a return to the wage scale in effect prior to two recent cuts, was closed tight tonight. W. B. Cole, president of the mill, announced that instead of treating with the strikers the mill's officials had decided to close the mill indefinitely.

HURLEY SCORES ROOSEVELT FOR 'CARPING' TALK

Challenges Governor to Give Remedy Better Than Hoover's.

ADDRESS BROADCAST THROUGHOUT NATION

Asks Why New York Executive Did Not Act to Reform Stock Exchange.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Characterizing Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign address at Columbus, Ohio, last week, as "carping criticism," Secretary of War Hurley again challenged the Democratic presidential candidate last night to come forward with a definite and constructive statement of his proposed national policies. The Secretary's address, delivered over a Nation-wide radio chain from Providence, R. I., was interpreted generally as the formal Republican answer to Gov. Roosevelt's extended address before the Ohio Democratic convention.

"From the very beginning of this campaign," Secretary Hurley said, "Gov. Roosevelt continuously has attempted to arouse class antagonism, to capitalize discontent, to make politics out of human misery and to profit by the distortion of fact."

Cites Hoover's Speech.

He taunted the governor for his failure or refusal to advance "one suggestion of any nature" to improve upon the nonpartisan reconstruction program outlined by President Hoover in his acceptance address.

"For constructiveness of purpose, definiteness of program and for intellectual decency, the Hoover acceptance address already has taken its place in the minds of the American people among the outstanding papers of the Republic. Contrast the words and the spirit of the President's address with the carping criticism, the unsupported charges, the indefinite, impractical and floundering suggestions of the Columbus address of Gov. Roosevelt."

Answers Policies Charge.

Taking up Gov. Roosevelt's charge that unsound national policies in the United States were primarily responsible for the world-wide economic depression, Secretary Hurley cited the conclusions of the Geneva economic conference of 1931, which reported the end of the post-war boom in six important commercial countries abroad before the beginning of the depression cycle in the United States in the fall of 1929.

He chided Gov. Roosevelt also for having demanded on the one hand that the Federal Government curb foreign loans, while on the other hand attributing the depression to America's refusal to advance further credits to Europe, Asia and South America after 1930.

Turning to industrial policy, Secretary Hurley asked Gov. Roosevelt

Sackett Will Help Plan Trade Parley

Norman H. Davis Also Is Chosen U. S. Agent on World Committee.

(Associated Press.)

The State Department yesterday announced that Frederic M. Sackett, the American Ambassador to Berlin, and Norman H. Davis, New York banker, have been named as American representatives on the organizing committee which is to prepare for the world monetary and economic conference.

The organizing committee will probably meet in London late in September to arrange for the conference. A financial and an economic expert are yet to be selected for the preparatory discussions which will precede the general conference.

The date and place for the conference probably will be announced after the meeting of the committee on arrangements.

'Flying Family' Ends Second Lap of Flight

Hutchinsons Land on Anticosti Island; Lee and Bochkon Poised to Hop Again Today; Solberg and Peterson Unhurt in Crash.

Fort Menier, Anticosti Island, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—The "flying Hutchinsons" completed the second lap of their flight across the north Atlantic today when they landed here at 4:45 p. m., Eastern standard time, from St. John, N. B.

George Hutchinson, his family of three and a crew of four, en route to London, brought the amphibian City of Richmond down on the waters of the harbor three hours and 2 minutes after they left St. John, a distance of 325 miles across the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Two American airplanes rested on Newfoundland soil tonight, one a ruined reminder of transatlantic hopes, the other with its nose pointed eagerly toward the east.

The huge sesquiplane which left New York yesterday with Thor Solberg and Carl Petersen was a wreck at the sparsely settled community of Darbys Harbor, Placentia Bay. The Green Mountain Boy, which carried Clyde Lee and John Bochkon from Barre, Vt., was poised to hop off for Oslo, Norway, tomorrow morning.

Meanwhile the flying family of Hutchinsons hopped off from St. John, New Brunswick, toward Anticosti Island, in the St. Lawrence River, on the second leg of their journey toward Europe.

With George Hutchinson at the controls, the present home of the Hutchinson family bore Mrs. Hutchinson, their two children and a crew of three over New Brunswick toward Anticosti. From Anticosti they plan-points is 300 miles. From Anticosti ned to fly to Greenland, Iceland and England to complete their trip from New York.

Details of what happened to Solberg and Petersen were lacking because of the absence of adequate communications between Harbor Grace and Darbys Harbor, but it was determined the fliers were uninjured, although their plane was badly dam-

PLANS FOR BUSINESS PARLEY COMPLETED

Leaders, Including Owen D. Young, Meet Informally; To See Mills Today.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was informed yesterday that at a series of informal nonpartisan meetings between Government leaders and outstanding business men—including Owen D. Young, prominent Democrat—preliminary plans had been completed for the national business conference here tomorrow.

Twelve leading business men from as many Federal Reserve Districts, each of them chairman of one of the business and industrial committees which will participate in the general conference, will meet in the office of Secretary Mills today at 10 a. m. to arrange final plans.

Mills conferred for nearly an hour with the Chief Executive yesterday, saying afterward they had exchanged ideas concerning the conference. Each has spoken of the meeting as a potential machine for coordinating governmental and private efforts to ease credit and spread employment.

The Treasury Secretary said Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and often a White House guest, would preside over the meeting in his office.

Among the Government chieftains who probably will take part in the executive session are Secretary Chapin, Governor Meyer, of the Federal Reserve Board; Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board; Paul Bestor, chairman of the Farm Loan Board, and James C. Stone, chairman of the Farm Board.

All of the committee chairmen are expected to be present. In addition to Young, chairman of the New York district, they are Carl P. Dennett, Boston district; George H. Houston, Philadelphia; L. B. Williams, Cleveland; Edwin C. Graham, Richmond; George S. Harris, Atlanta; Sewell L. Avery, Chicago; J. W. Harris, St. Louis; George D. Dayton, Minneapolis; Joseph F. Porter, Kansas City; Frank Kell, Dallas, and K. R. Kingsbury, San Francisco.

5 Paraguayan Soldiers Killed in Chaco Defeat

La Paz, Bolivia, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Five Paraguayan soldiers, three of them officers, were killed in an attack Saturday on Fort Arce, Bolivian outpost in the Chaco region, it was announced today.

A government communique said the attack was repulsed, and the Paraguayans fled so precipitately that they had no time to recover all their dead.

20,000 on Colorado Farms Lack Food

Two Years of Crop Failures Put Many Near Starvation, Agent Reports.

Fort Collins, Colo., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Twenty thousand men, women and children on farms in eastern Colorado are in immediate need of food and clothing and feed for live stock as a result of two successive years of drought and crop failure, F. A. Anderson, of the Colorado Agricultural College Extension Service, reported today.

Mr. Anderson has completed a survey of the region with Albert Evans, of St. Louis, Red Cross director of relief disaster.

"Thousands of people in the drought stricken area are actually hungry and need help at once," Anderson said. "Many are in the process of slow starvation."

METHODISTS ASSAIL HOOVER ON DRY LAW

Board of Temperance Calls Proposed Change "Bitterly Disappointing."

(Associated Press.)

The Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals yesterday described President Hoover's proposal for a change in the dry laws as "bitterly disappointing."

In a formal statement, the board praised Vice President Curtis for the dry declaration in his acceptance speech and said the Kansan was the only candidate to whom it could give its commendation.

Previously, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, of the Allied Forces for Prohibition, had made public a letter from President Hoover saying they were on "common ground in a desire to rid this civilization of the evils of the liquor traffic."

Dr. Poling reiterated his organization's support of the Chief Executive, but reserved the right to decide later what legislation it will back in Congress.

"It would be idle to deny that the utterances of honorable and respected political leaders which are in keeping with the cries of hoodlums who filled the galleries of the Chicago Stadium have been bitterly disappointing to the supporters of the law," the Methodist board said.

"Particularly is this true in regard to the utterance of the President made in his acceptance speech, and surely no one in the entire land can fail to understand this when it is remembered with what utter devotion the Democratic and Republican supporters of Mr. Hoover served his cause in 1928. Hundreds of them suffered abuse, many of them ostracism, some of them prosecution.

"It must have been with a heavy heart that the President turned from these loyal friends and struck hands with their enemies and the enemies of the eighteenth amendment. Those who so advised him did a disservice not only to their party but to the country.

"Refreshing and commendable for its honesty and courage is the candid utterance of Charles Curtis, candidate for Vice President on the Republican ticket, and to that candi-

U. S. Court Attache At Norfolk Suicide

P. R. Flanagan Found Dead on Road; Books Are Believed in Order.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Paul R. Flanagan, chief deputy clerk of the United States District Court for eastern Virginia, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the chest with a pistol. His body was found beside his parked automobile on a road near Norfolk.

Dr. L. C. Perebee, Norfolk County coroner, said the death was plainly suicidal, and said that no inquest was necessary. Flanagan had not been seen at his office since this morning, when he gave his record books to three auditors from the general accounting office of the United States Government.

The auditors said that Flanagan's books were in proper order, with the exception of $2,145 of his personal checks among his accounts, which were listed as cash. All the checks, dated during the present month, were deposited in a Norfolk bank today. If there is sufficient money to Flanagan's account in the bank to cover the checks, there will be no shortage in his accounts, the auditors said.

GOV. ROOSEVELT TELLS WALKER POLITICS TABOO

Mayor's Effort to Show G. O. P. Inspired Quiz Is Banned.

REPUBLICAN GROUP KEPT FROM STAND

Charges of Fee Splitting by Official's Brother Again Are Taken Up.

Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Balked in its effort to go into the motive behind the legislative investigation of the New York City government, the defense at the Walker ouster hearing failed tonight to present testimony intended to show that the inquiry was to "get" the New York mayor.

This afternoon Gov. Roosevelt ruled against permitting Republican leaders to testify to the inspiration of the Hofstadter inquiry. Walker contended the inquiry was a Republican move to embarrass Tammany and Roosevelt's presidential ambitions.

Tonight the governor refused to hear a newspaper clipping bureau man tell of his employment by Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter committee.

Repeats Ruling.

"If a man says 'my purpose is to get Mayor Walker' and that is stated before the investigation is started, don't you think that should be brought out?" John J. Curtin, Walker's chief of counsel asked Roosevelt.

"I again rule that I can not take such testimony," the governor answered, and the clipping bureau man was dismissed.

Tonight's session was the first after-dinner meeting in the "all of Governors" where for ten days the Walker hearing has been in progress.

John H. Delaney, chairman of the New York City Board of Transportation, reading from piles of reports and documents, testified to the procedure which led to the granting of a franchise to the Equitable Coach Co.

Spectators, even attorneys, nodded and struggled to keep awake as the monotonous procedure continued for almost two hours.

Coach Firm Charges.

The mayor is accused of interesting himself in the Equitable franchise in behalf of his friend, State Senator John J. Hastings, who was employed by the company.

The night session ended at 9 o'clock. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Dr. E. Stiles Potter, physician attached to the office of the corporation counsel in New York City, was on the stand as the hearing convened.

Dr. Potter was called as a defense witness to refute the charge that the mayor permitted his brother, Dr. William H. Walker, to split fees with

Mrs. Putnam Again On Trans-U. S. Hop

Expects to End Nonstop Flight in New Jersey This Morning.

Los Angeles, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—High over the deserts of the West, Amelia Earhart-Putnam was flying tonight toward New Jersey, hopeful of setting the first woman's transcontinental nonstop flight record.

She took off from the Municipal Airport here at 12:26:54 p. m. (P. S. T.) in the fast little monoplane that carried her across the Atlantic. Her course was straight for Albuquerque, N. Mex., thence for St. Louis and over the airways via Columbus, Ohio, to Newark, N. J.

She hoped to reach the New Jersey goal in the forenoon tomorrow. She carried 40 gallons more of gas than on the attempt three weeks ago when she was forced to sit her ship down in Columbus, Ohio, with a faulty gas line. No woman has yet the coast-to-coast flight in one hop.

GAS RATES ORDERED CUT IN MONTGOMERY

Reduction of 8½ Per Cent by 2 Companies Decreed by Public Service Body.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 24.—Two gas companies serving Montgomery County were ordered today by the public service commission to reduce their rates 8½ per cent.

This order, which affects the Washington Gas Light Co. and the Georgetown Gas Light Co., both of Montgomery County, follows a similar one issued July 26 by the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, directing that an equivalent reduction be made by the Washington Gas Light Co. and the Georgetown Gas Light Co., for the benefit of consumers in Washington.

The two Maryland companies are controlled by the Washington concerns, while the Georgetown company in Washington is a subsidiary of the Washington Gas Light Co., of that city.

The Washington order was consented to by the companies affected, according to Frank Harper, executive secretary of the public service commission, and was passed pending valuation proceedings of the gas companies undertaken by the District of Columbia commission.

The orders of both commissions, effective from August 1, 1932, to and including meter readings taken in January, 1933, do not affect the basic rates but are in the nature of a discount on all bills except as to authorized minimum amounts.

Prior to imposition of the discount in Washington, Mr. Harper said, the Washington rates were $1 per 1,000 cubic feet of gas for first 1,000 feet, 90 cents per 1,000 for the next 2,000 feet, and 85 cents per 1,000 for all over 3,000 feet. The Maryland rates, he said, were $1.20 per 1,000 cubic feet for the first 2,500 feet and 90 cents per 1,000 for all over that.

The Public Service Commission, Mr. Harper explained, has been trying for some time to have this differential adjusted, but without success.

The reductions ordered today raise to five the number of downward revisions of utility rates brought about in Maryland by the commission in the last few months.

The other four involved electric rates in southern Maryland in the vicinity of Betterton, Lonaconing and in Harford counties.

JAPAN INSISTS ON NEW STATE OF MANCHUKUO

Recognition Offers Only Means to Peace, Says Baron Uchida.

CRITICIZES DOCTRINE STATED BY STIMSON

Holds Step Not Violation of Nine-Power Pact; Blames China for Rebellion.

Tokyo, (Thursday), Aug. 25 (A.P.).—Baron Yasyua Uchida, the Japanese foreign minister, told the House of Peers this morning that the government was convinced formal recognition of the State of Manchukuo constituted "the only means of stabilizing conditions in Manchuria and establishing permanent peace in the Far East."

The baron's speech was the government's declaration of foreign policy before an extraordinary session of the Parliament. Manchukuo is the state which was set up through the aid of the Japanese after the victorious campaign in which the Japanese army expelled the Chinese forces from Manchuria.

"With a view of early extension of formal recognition to Manchukuo, we are making various arrangements, upon the expected completion of which in the near future our plans will be carried through," the foreign minister said.

U. S. Doctrine Recalled.

His speech had been looked forward to because of Japanese reaction against recent pronouncements by President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson of the doctrine that the United States would not recognize territorial changes effected through violations of the Kellogg-Briand pact and other peace treaties. Japan has objected to these pronouncements, interpreting them as an attack on her course in Manchuria.

Baron Uchida did not specifically refer to the addresses of Mr. Hoover and Mr. Stimson, but he did say:

"The view expressed in certain quarters that recognition by Japan of the new state would constitute violation of the stipulations of the nine-power treaty is in my opinion incomprehensible."

This, together with the foreign minister's denial that Japan's action in Manchuria violated the Kellogg-Briand pact, was considered in official Japanese quarters as an answer to Secretary Stimson's recent New York speech, which was interpreted in Tokyo as an implied charge of Japanese aggression.

Attitude Toward China.

"There are those in other countries," Uchida said, "who do not fully comprehend the attitude of Japan toward China nor the measures she has taken * * *.

"It is an indisputable fact that the chaotic condition of China and the so-called revolutionary policy carried on by China under the enthralling influence of extravagant political dogma have been principally responsible for the unfortunate turn that international relations have taken of recent years in the Far East. * * *

"It is admitted by those conversant with actual conditions in China that

Reynolds' Brother Upholds Murder Theory on Return

Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—A belief that his brother, Smith, was a victim of murder and not a suicide, was expressed by R. J. (Dick) Reynolds, jr., in an interview here today.

Just arrived from the Canary Islands, after a 12,000-mile dash by steamer, airplane and automobile, the ruddy-faced heir to the Reynolds tobacco millions said his opinion of the tragedy was based upon a study of the testimony taken before a coroner's jury.

Smith Reynolds, 20-year-old aviation enthusiast, was fatally shot July 6.

Early this month his widow, Libby Holman, former singer of blues songs on Broadway, and Albert (Ab) Walker, 19-year-old Winston-Salem youth, who was Smith's secretary, were indicted on first degree murder charges. They are under $25,000 bond each for their appearance for trial, the date of which remains uncertain.

Child in Path of Speeding Car Is Saved by Motorman

Lorain, Ohio, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Clinging from the pilot of a speeding, plunging limited of the Lake Shore Electric Interurban line, Motorman Bill Lang today scooped from beneath the wheels of his car 3-year-old Lelia Smith as she played on the tracks.

Lang, one of the veteran motormen of the line, had brought the limited about a curve when he noticed what appeared to be a bundle between the rails.

Looking sharply, he saw it was a baby—Lelia, playing with her doll "Elvira."

Applying the brakes to the car, traveling 55 miles an hour, Lang flung himself through the door and onto the pilot barely in time to snatch up the baby.

Lang brought her into the cab and on to Lorain, where hospital nurses appraised her injuries as little more apparently than a cut head and bruised arm. Lang took the limited on to Toledo.

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS ON RUM SATURDAY

To Make Talk at Seagirt, N. J.; Will Give 10 or 11 Speeches in Campaign.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt will make his personal bid for the Presidency in ten or eleven major speeches, his campaign manager, James A. Farley, announced today.

He will fire what was called "his prohibition broadside" on Saturday, when he addresses a mass reception at Seagirt, N. J.

His appeal to the New England States, three of which opposed him at the Chicago convention, will be made in a speech in Massachusetts.

The Democratic standard-bearer will wind up his stumping at Madison Square Garden, in the heart of New York City, with a message for his own State, which has 47 electoral votes.

Repeated Republican claims that Roosevelt will not carry New York drew the fire of Farley tonight.

In answer to a statement of F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War and Republican gubernatorial aspirant, that Roosevelt "is already reconciled to the loss of New York State," the Democratic campaign chief said:

"It's assinine for Davison or any one else to say that."

To Davison's additional assertion that without New York's 47 votes Roosevelt can't win the election, Farley repeated:

"That's asinine, too."

Another prominent Democrat was added to the list of Roosevelt-Garner orators when it was announced that Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State under President Wilson, will address a Democratic gathering at Youngstown, Ohio, Saturday.

As the campaign leaders continued their drive to line up all those who opposed Roosevelt at Chicago, Peter G. Gerry, former senator from Rhode Island, conferred with Farley and pledged his active support to the ticket.

Gerry was one of "Al" Smith's most ardent supporters on the floor of the national convention and stated he would "fight to the last ditch" for the "Happy Wagio."

After several hours with Farley, he declared the people of his State "are in sympathy with the Democratic platform and believe that under the leadership of Mr. Roosevelt definite results will be accomplished."

A claim that Kentucky will give the Democratic ticket a majority of at least 75,000 was made by Mrs. Sam Connor, national committeewoman from that State, who conferred with leaders at headquarters.

While Farley was writing the talk he will deliver tomorrow night, when he, the governor and the two finance committee heads make an appeal for party funds, the Democratic money-raisers held a long conference.

It was the first full meeting of the executive campaign finance committee. Former Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, the chairman, presided.

Among those present were Vincent Astor, wealthy and socially prominent member of the Astor family in America, and James W. Gerard, former national committee treasurer.

Davison Claims Roosevelt Ready to Concede New York

Assistant War Secretary Says Hoover Gaining Daily in Governor's State; Headquarters Opened for Own Gubernatorial Race.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—A claim that Gov. Roosevelt "is already reconciled to the loss of New York State" in the presidential election was made tonight by F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War and Republican gubernatorial aspirant.

"And without New York's electoral votes," Davison continued, "the Democrats will not be able to win."

He said his "contacts" around the State indicated to him that President Hoover's strength is gaining every day."

The young "Little Cabinet" member sat in one of the green and silver offices at Republican Eastern headquarters as he talked.

In that same room during the last two weeks numerous other New York Republican leaders have claimed a Republican victory is in sight in this State, among them W. Kingsland Macy, State chairman, and William H. Hill, assistant Eastern campaign manager.

Because he was in national headquarters, where an impartial attitude is being taken in the many-sided race for the gubernatorial nomination, Davison declined to discuss his announcement of last night that he is henceforth an active candidate for the office.

Later, however, it was announced headquarters had been opened for him and that Henry Root Stern, New York lawyer, is in charge of his campaign.

Senator Felix Hebert, Eastern manager, announced that women's campaign activities in seventeen States will be directed from here. They are all the New England States, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Virginia.

Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, national director of the women's division, will supervise women's activities in her home State of West Virginia. The other State activity will be in charge of Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, head of the women's Eastern division.

Senator Hebert announced that David Hinshaw, organizer of the newly established Republican Radio League, has left for Chicago to organize the league's Western activities.

whether his Columbus address favored mass production methods, or the complete disintegration of manufacturing.

"If manufacturing in large plants is wrong," he said, "if it has brought calamity to the American people, then he ought to suggest a program to secure its disintegration, and he should explain what new forms of Federal regulation he would introduce."

The Republican policy, he added, embraces mass production as sound in principle, and seeks to smooth out the present difficulties of distribution.

Must Maintain Jobs.

"We have been successful in mass production. We have not mastered mass distribution * * * Society must pass along to all the people the profits that it is reaping from mass machine production. We must maintain jobs.

"To find a more permanent solution to our unemployment problem, President Hoover has instructed the Departments of Labor and Commerce to study the five-day week and programs of shorter hours as a means to wider distribution of employment. * * * Along these lines a permanent solution of our unemployment problem may be found."

Responding to Gov. Roosevelt's charge that the Hawley-Smoot schedule constituted the "highest tariff in the history of the world," Secretary Hurley cited statistics of the United States Tariff Commission to show that per capita collections of customs for 1931 were 3 per cent more in Italy than in this country; 51 per cent more in Belgium; 88 per cent more in France; 120 per cent more in Argentina; 284 per cent more in Canada, and 307 per cent more in Great Britain.

"Further consideration of these same countries shows that although the amount of duties collected per inhabitant declined 8 per cent in the United States from 1913 to 1931, the amount collected by Japan increased 26 per cent; by France, 54 per cent; by Italy, 61 per cent; by Belgium, 136 per cent; by British India, 218 per cent, and by the United Kingdom, 222 per cent.

"Gov. Roosevelt wants to reduce the protective tariff, but will he state to the American people which schedule of the tariff he would reduce?"

In concluding his discussion of the tariff, Secretary Hurley cited the statement of Representative Henry T. Rainey, the Democratic floor leader, in the House last January, when the now vetoed Democratic tariff bill was under consideration. Mr. Rainey said on that occasion:

"Lower this tariff drastically? You will not do it and we do not dare to do it with conditions as they are. We do not want this market flooded with the products of cheap labor in other countries."

Stock Exchange Reform.

Declaring Gov. Roosevelt did not suggest more rigid supervision of security issues "until he became a candidate for the Presidency," Secretary Hurley asked: "Why has the governor not used the power of his great office as the chief executive of New York to bring ab at the elimination of abuses and frauds in commercial banking he so properly condemns?"

"The governor favors the reform of the stock exchange. The stock exchange is an institution existing under the laws of the State of New York. There is no doubt that abuses have existed in the operations of that exchange. There is no doubt that there were organized bear raids detrimental to the welfare of the public. What did the Governor of New York do to remedy this situation during the long period in which he has had the power to act?"

In conclusion Secretary Hurley challenged Gov. Roosevelt again to define specifically his "vague reference to a new deal."

INVASION OF MINES HALTED BY GUNFIRE

lage to the south in Jackson County, where it had been planned to camp for the night.

Offer No Resistance.

No deputy sheriffs were injured in the clash. Injuries of the miners consisted mainly of scalp wounds inflicted with clubs. A few, however, were cut by flying glass from broken windshields.

The strikers offered no resistance when deputies made their onslaught. Except for the drivers of the automobiles, the strikers held their hands above their heads as their cars moved back westward along a line of deputy sheriffs that extended from the western outskirts of Mulkeytown to the Illinois Central Railroad tacks, which run north and south about half a mile from the scene of the clash.

Despite a myriad of difficulties, the 9-mile procession of automobiles and trucks carrying the strikers, had moved stubbornly along through the southern tier of counties to call fellow miners in Franklin and Williamson Counties out on strike with them against the new $5 wage scale.

The citizenry of Franklin County was plainly aroused. They saw the oncoming strikers as a threat to the peace and industry of their community; as a bar to the earning of a living by thousands of willing miners hereabouts.

But the strikers' caravan, taking its beginnings from as far north as Peoria, as far east as Danville, as far west as Belleville, grew apace as it rolled along from Springfield, Staunton, and Gillespie. It gathered recruits from side roads, villages and cities until, from its start as a procession five miles long, it almost doubled its length by the time it reached Pinckneyville.

Not Armed, Leaders Say.

Although not carefully organized, the caravan was orderly. Leaders said no weapons were carried and no intoxicants allowed, and a military discipline prevailed even to the extent of preventing several of its members from stealing "rosatin' ears" from the fields at the side of the road.

The monster procession moved down through Edwardsville, Mascoutah and Marissa, where a large delegation of about 1,500 strikers from Belleville was picked up.

At the Perry County line it encountered its first show of resistance from a group of Franklin and Perry County deputies under Deputy Sheriff Robert Osborne. A short parley and the strikers were allowed to proceed. Several miles farther they were again stopped and after considerable argument the line again was allowed to proceed. In each case the deputies had displayed machine guns, shotguns, revolvers and other weapons.

The strikers carried food enough for four or five days, the length of time in which they believed they could persuade their fellow miners in the southern Illinois coal fields to stop work.

With the caravan were a number of women, who had supervision over the food supply. The army carried its own automobile mechanics, first aid attendants and other artisans necessary to a project of this kind.

HUNGER IS WEAKENING LINES OF FARM PICKETERS IN IOWA

A force of 98 special deputies, armed with clubs and guns, and instructed to chase from Pottawattamie County highways all striking farmers was mobilized by Sheriff Lainson.

His squadrons were not long in clearing three major highways and one secondary road of picketers. Twelve farmers from Missouri Valley and Denison, Iowa, were arrested and charged with unlawful assembly.

A meeting was held here late today of sheriffs from eight southwestern Iowa counties, planned a course of action whereby convoys would be furnished truckers as far as the Pottawattamie County line, from where Sheriff Lainson would provide escorts.

A succession of arrests, marked law enforcement activities elsewhere as the two-week old "strike" continued with reprisals, threats, interference with trains and near riots.

Meager Finances Gone.

At Sioux City, where the campaign burst into prominence last week, and where the movement has gained recruits steadily, farmers, faced with the necessity of selling their products in order to buy food for their families, began to lose some of their enthusiasm for the campaign.

Strike leaders there frankly admitted they were confronted by a serious situation. Many of their adherents, they said, were dependent on daily sales of milk, butter, eggs and poultry, and two weeks of enforced refusal to sell, awaiting higher prices, have exhausted meager finances.

There were also many live stock raisers in northwest Iowa who soon would be forced to market their hogs and cattle, or suffer severe losses.

Threaten Train Blockade.

Developments of the day making the campaign a contingency observers agreed was increasingly serious, included:

Arrest of three men near Council Bluffs in connection with the barricading. Five strikers were arrested in Sioux City. Twenty-five striking farmers were arrested near Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Farmers in Thurston County, Nebr., threatened to blockade all railroad stations in northeastern Nebraska.

Farmers near Blair, Nebr., said they planned to start a blockade of roads leading to Omaha, and indicated their defiance of Sheriff Marion Sutherland, of Washington County, who declared he would stop picketing.

Gov. Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska ordered deputization of additional men to prevent any violence in northeastern Nebraska.

Gov. Dan Turner of Iowa, replying to a letter from Milo Reno, of Des Moines, president of the National Farmers' Holiday Association, which called the strike, declared his belief that a conference of Middle Western governors would not be successful.

Squads of Eight.

Sheriff Lainson's deputies were divided into squads of eight. They were told to spend the afternoon surveying the situation. Tonight they were to start arresting all persons who stop trucks on the highways, the chief, a former Army officer, declared.

Reports that Hugo Synhorst, of Sioux County, in northwestern Iowa, threatened to use machine guns in an attempt to keep roads open could not be verified.

Farmer leaders in Plymouth County, Iowa, declared they expected 1,000 men to come from Sioux City by truck tonight to tighten picket lines if produce houses remained open.

Lainson's campaign against picketing, he said, would include seeking prosecution of Clifton L. Savery, of Logan, Farmers' Union organizer and strike leader, and other strike instigators, on charges of conspiracy.

Calls Picketing Hoodlums.

"We are going to stop this picketing if we have to enlist 50,000 deputies to do it," Lainson maintained. He asserted most of the pickets near here were not Pottawattamie County farmers. "They are hoodlums, just as much as are Chicago gangsters," he declared.

A group of former strike adherents near Charter Oak, Iowa, deserted the holiday cause, and banded together to ship their stock, already fattened, for the market. Under a guard of 200 sympathizers they hauled their stock to the railroad and shipped three cars to Sioux City.

Strikers in this vicinity ignored agreements by milk producers and dealers in Council Bluffs and Omaha, by which the prices were increased. "We don't know or care about this agreement," the strikers said. "We are going to stop the trucking of milk until we get word not to from Milo Reno."

Oil Firms Offer Loan to Mexico.

Mexico City, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Reports were published here today to the effect that large petroleum companies operating in Mexico were prepared to advance a Government tax loan of $12,000,000 in return for a levy of six centavos per liter on gasoline without permitting price advances to consumers.

Would Answer Phone Now, Secretary Says of Garner

Rocky Point, R. I., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Secretary of War Hurley digressed momentarily today in his speech before the Rhode Island Republican Club attacking Gov. Roosevelt's recent Columbus, Ohio, address to make reference to Alfred E. Smith and Speaker John N. Garner, the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

"Lots of mistakes are made," said Hurley, "and lots of changes take place. If Jack Garner's phone were to ring after 6 o'clock this afternoon and somebody were to tell him that Al Smith wanted to talk to him, I think he would be glad to talk."

Garner recently denied that he refused to talk to Smith in a telephone call by the latter from Chicago during the Democratic national convention. Rhode Island was carried by Smith in 1928.

MISSISSIPPI VOTERS ELECT INCUMBENTS

Representative Collier, Beaten by Ellzey, Holds District Primary Illegal.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Mississippi's representatives from the First, Third, Fourth and Seventh Districts won renomination by overwhelming majorities in yesterday's Democratic district primary, late returns today showed.

Representative Wall Doxey, of the Second District, was renominated without opposition.

In the Seventh District, Representative I. Will Collier, chairman of the House ways and means committee, met crushing defeat at the hands of Russell Ellzey, after Collier had tried unsuccessfully to have his name withdrawn from the district ballot.

Holds Primary Illegal.

Collier is planning to make a race from the State at large in the November general election, due to the fact that he believes the lately enacted redistricting act is unconstitutional and thereby renders the primary illegal.

The redistricting act combined the districts of Collier and Ellzey, throwing them into a district contest in the Seventh and reducing the delegation from eight to seven members.

The Secretary of State is under Federal injunction restraining him from certifying the primary nominations for the November ballot and a supreme court hearing on appeal on behalf of the State attorney general is to be held Friday in New York.

In the First District John E. Rankin retained his nomination against E. P. Lacy, of Corinth, by more than a five to one vote with nearly complete returns reported.

Other Results.

Representative Will M. Whittington won the nomination in the Third District over George P. Ritchey, of Tunica.

Representative Jeff Busby received a two to one vote over his opponent, John F. Allen, of Kosciusko, in the Fourth.

Representative Collins appeared to be safe from defeat by S. A. Witherspoon, of Meridian, in the Fifth District.

A run-off primary on September 13 will decide the nominee in the Sixth District where Representative Robert S. Hall was holding to second place. W. M. Colmen, of Pascagoula, piling up a big coast vote, took first place with about 60 precincts missing.

U. S. and Egyptian Pacts Exchanged

Arbitration and Conciliation Treaties Seen Step to Secure Peace.

Ratifications of treaties of arbitration and conciliation between Egypt and the United States were exchanged yesterday by Acting Secretary of State William R. Castle, jr., and Egyptian Minister Sesostris Sidarouss Pasha. Both signed the protocol of exchange in the presence of aids at the State Department.

The arbitration pact is concerned with the "prevention of war by the submission of all controversies which it is not possible to adjust by diplomacy" involving principles of law and equity which a special commission could not settle to the Permanent Court of Arbitration at The Hague.

The cause of general peace and existing amity between this Nation and Egypt is the purpose of the conciliation treaty which provides for submission of any disputes arising between this Government and Egypt when ordinary diplomatic proceedings fail, to a permanent international commission. Instruments of ratification by Egypt to the international radio convention, signed here November 25, 1927, were formally deposited at the State Department by the Egyptian Minister. The treaties were signed on August 27, 1929.

President Hoover had as luncheon guests yesterday three prominent motion picture officials, one of whom said he brought optimistic reports from both business and political fields.

Those at the White House luncheon table were Louis B. Mayer, of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer; Joseph M. Schenck, of the United Artists Pictures, and J. Walter Rubin, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer official.

Earthquake Terrifies Residents Near Manila

Manila, Thursday, Aug. 25 (A.P.).—Several thousand dollars damage was caused and residents terrified when the most severe earthquake in recent years struck last night at Baguia, a mountain resort approximately 200 miles north of here, and at nearby La Union.

Residents at both places slept in the streets fearing a recurrence of the shock. A landslide blocked the main mountain road overnight. The quake caused no damage here.

Two Bank Bandits Killed.

Los Angeles, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Two Negro bank robbers were shot and killed and H. R. Reed, teller, was wounded critically today when five Negroes attempted to hold up the Bank of America branch at Fifty-seventh and South Broadway. W. Ord, the manager, opened fire, killing the two, and the other three fled after returning pistol fire.

Hoover's Leadership Assailed by Robinson

(Associated Press.)

As prominent figures in the business and industrial world gathered last night for President Hoover's economic conference, Senator Robinson, Democratic leader of the Senate, in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee, said similar meetings in the past had failed because of President Hoover's "inept and uncertain leadership."

Robinson expressed hope that the conference would be of some assistance in the Nation's economic recovery, but added that "the association of business and intellectual leaders of the country with these schemes has been unavailing because they have been used merely as a sounding board for the Republican party."

BRUCE SEES UPTURN IN PRICE LEVEL RISE

Says Pacts Useless Unless Commodity Lists Advance; To Visit Hoover.

(Associated Press).

Stanley M. Bruce, leader of the Australian delegation at the imperial economic conference in Ottawa, said last night in a press interview that no trade pact or declaration of policy between nations can clinch commercial recovery until commodity price levels advance.

The former prime minister of Australia and his conference staff constituted the only delegation to accept an invitation of the Washington Government to visit the United States.

Bruce said there was no official significance to his visit, explaining he came to pay his respects to President Hoover, whom he met on a trip to this country in 1927, and to call on unnamed financial interests in New York when he leaves here tomorrow. He will sail for England on Wednesday of next week to take up his new duties as resident commissioner for Australia.

He would not discuss the nature of his New York calls, but said no progress had been made at Ottawa toward getting a British guarantee behind Australia's public debt for the purpose of converting current bonds to low interest paper.

Australian statisticians in his entourage, he said, within the next few days will study the statistical structure of the United States Government, which he described as an extraordinary system.

7 Buildings Destroyed In Chihuahua Flames

Mexico City, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—A disastrous fire swept Chihuahua City this afternoon and tonight, destroying seven important buildings in the business district before it was brought under control.

Firemen were forced to use dynamite to halt the blaze, which started in a garage. Troops helped fight the flames, but a shortage of water hampered operations. The International School, the headquarters of the National Revolutionary party and of the affiliated Chihuahua State party, were among the buildings destroyed. The damage was estimated at around $750,000.

Maryland Freight Robberies Solved

Five Men Are Accused of Throwing Merchandise From Trains.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Pennsylvania and city police today were investigating what they said was a widespread system of freight train robberies in which thousands of dollars worth of merchandise had been stolen from moving freight trains.

Disclosure of the robberies, which extended from Washington, D. C., Wilmington, Del., Baltimore and Havre de Grace, Md., and Pennsylvania cities and towns along the Susquehanna River to Columbia, police said, following the arrest last week of five Lancaster Negroes who are held on charges of felonious entry and larceny.

Richard Michael, who escaped when the others were arrested, is held in Washington, police said, after his capture during what Washington police reported was an attempted freight car robbery. Police here said the group, with confederates who have not yet been caught, robbed cars while the trains moved along, and threw off their loot to assistants at Perryville, Md., and Safe Harbor, Md.

Deceit in Getting Charity Is Alleged in Boston

Boston, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—The Boston Board of Overseers of Public Welfare tonight said that 25,000 Boston families, approximating 100,000 persons, were receiving aid from the city and that many of them were home owners and well able to support themselves.

The board asserted that the demand for public aid was more than five times as great as normally and that although every application for aid was made in writing and under oath, deceit and fraud was rampant. The board expressed regret that worthy applicants had to be investigated in the present drive to detect frauds being conducted by the board in cooperation with the police department.

MacDonald Likely To Act in Walkout

Premier May Intervene in Textile Strike if Deadlock Continues.

Manchester, England, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—Prime Minister J. Ramsay Macdonald may be called upon to intervene in the threatened general strike by Lancashire cotton workers, if negotiations opened today are unsuccessful in averting the walkout scheduled for Saturday.

With almost half a million workers involved, the representatives of owners and operatives conferred for hours at the town hall and then adjourned their sessions until tomorrow.

Two questions are involved, both striking at the heart of what was once the world's great textile center. First, the employers are seeking a 10 per cent wage reduction while the workers refuse to accept such a heavy decrease. Second, the workers have opposed the introduction of a "more looms per weaver" system because it reduces employment.

NEW EXPANSION LAW USED BY FEW BANKS

Reserve Board Holds Credit Situation Would Suffer if All Exercised Power.

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Reserve Board said yesterday that the billion dollar currency expansion power given national banks under the Glass-Borah amendment to the home loan law was held chiefly by a few large banks and if exercised fully would affect the reserve system's influence on the general credit situation.

In its monthly review of business and financial conditions, the board declared that additional issues of national bank notes at this time would not tend to increase circulation, but only substitute that variety for Federal Reserve currency.

It sounded a warning of what might be expected if national banks took full advantage of the new law.

"The ability of national banks to obtain currency without resorting to the reserve banks will have an effect," the board said, "not only on the volume of Federal Reserve currency, but also and more importantly on the position of the Federal Reserve banks and the influence of the Federal Reserve System on the general credit situation."

Important Consequence.

"It is these other and remoter consequences," it added, "that may in time be expected to be the most important consequences of the recent legislation enlarging the note-issuing privilege of national banks."

The board said it deemed it unlikely that much use would be made of the privilege now, but that when business improves banks will make use of all the funds available to them and consequently may avail themselves of the privilege to the full extent of the law.

A review of the workings of the new currency law showed that National banks in New York, Chicago and other Federal Reserve cities have the power of issuing two-thirds of the currency expansion permitted. The board said those banks had unused power to issue $663,000,000 of new currency while the maximum permitted was $916,000,000. Country banks have unused issuing privilege amounting to $253,000,000.

Were Not Available.

The board said complete statistics were not available to the end of June, but as of December 31 they showed that 36 large national banks, each of which had paid-in capital stock of more than $5,000,000, held over half of the unused issuing power and that eight of those banks had autority to issue 40 per cent of the potential note increase.

The board reported 128 bank failures with deposits of $55,604,000 in July, but added that 20 banks with deposits of $68,134,000, had reopened during the month.

Suspensions in June numbered 149 with $135,864,000 deposited. Since January 1, a total of 946 banks have suspended with deposits of $555,219,000. Since that time 187 banks with deposits of $173,000,000 have reopened.

METHODISTS ASSAIL HOOVER ON DRY LAW

date only can commendation be given."

The board urged supporters of prohibition to work for dry candidates for the House and Senate. Its followers, it said, will "certainly strive to secure the defeat of any member of Congress who votes to destroy the eighteenth amendment by the enactment of legislation authorizing the manufacture and sale of beer or other intoxicating beverages." It added:

"The effect of such legislation upon any administration program would be utterly disastrous, compelling the election of the succeeding Congress on that issue alone. If and when the prohibition amendment is resubmitted, whatever the form of that resubmission, a general and maximum effort will be made to have the proposed change rejected.

"The Christian Church which in nearly all of its organized branches is on record against the sale of intoxicating liquors will certainly assume the responsibility of presenting the facts and appealing to the consciences of Christian minds in every community under the American flag, and plans are being perfected to insure the most effective cooperation between the various denominations for this patriotic and humane undertaking."

Mrs. Tilton, Dry Leader, Quits Allied Group Post

Boston, Aug 24 (A.P.).—Mrs. William Tilton of Cambridge, nationally known prohibitionist, announced today she had resigned from the Allied Forces, of which Dr. Daniel A. Poling is president, because of his statement the Allied Forces would support President Hoover's prohibition stand.

Mrs. Tilton, chairman of the executive committee of the greater Boston branch of the Allied Forces, also is a member of the National Board of Strategy, a director of the Antisaloon League of America, and chairman of the Women's National Committee for education against alcohol.

Recent findings in a test revealed a saving of 1,226 gallons or 36 per cent of fuel bill per year. Original burners still operating in perfect condition without replacement of parts prove their economy of operation. The McIlvaine has only two controls—furnace and living room—other types having from three to ten. Its operation is by a continuous graduated flame.

No gas pilot—no electric ignition—no fire or possible explosion—odorless—smokeless—graduated flame automatically controlled—no dirt or labor.

Call or phone for our booklet, "Balanced Heat." Let us show you a McIlvaine in operation.

HUNT AND LENOX TOP AIR DERBY CARAVANS

Both Contingents Will Race Toward Cleveland Today; Next Stop in Missouri.

Bartlesville, Okla., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—East met West here tonight when Roy Hunt, Norman, Okla., and Chappy Lenox, of New Haven, Conn., led their respective air caravans of the National Air Derby into Bartlesville.

Lenox hurtled in ahead of other members in the Washington-to-Cleveland group at 6:40 p. m. (C. S. T.), arriving from McAlester, Okla. The Los Angeles-Cleveland group arrived in midafternoon from the same point.

Tomorrow the contingents will race together toward Cleveland, site of the national air races. The next stops will be at Jefferson City, Mo., and East St. Louis, Ill.

Following Lenox across the finish line was J. D. Hayes, Ponca City, Okla., and third was J. D. Crane, New Haven, Conn.

Doug Davis, Atlanta, finished fourth; Harold Newman, Moline, Ill., fifth; R. A. Moore, Dayton, Ohio, sixth; P. A. Sturdevant, Elmhurst, Ill., seventh; Melville Robinson, Mount Clemens, Mich., eighth; C. L. Clabaugh, Glenview, Ill., ninth; Arthur J. Davis, Lansing, Mich., tenth, and W. F. Cummings, Donaldsonville, Ga., eleventh.

When Hunt, Western flight leader, shot his plane across the line at Phillips Airport at 2:53 p. m., he had added 525 points to his point total in three grueling laps and taken the lead away from young Eldon Cessna, of Wichita, Kans., airplane designer.

Hunt's point total was announced here as 1,190, to 962.76 for Cesana, who had held a slim lead until this morning.

Bad weather at Jackson, Miss., this morning delayed the take-off of the 26 ships in the Eastern group, and they did not reach McAlester, Okla., until after the Western fliers had put their planes down here.

With thirteen planes thrown far off their starting schedule by a hitch in refueling operations at Oklahoma City this afternoon, confusion was injected into the Los Angeles-Cleveland derby. Race officials planned to meet tonight to decide what action should be taken. Therre was a possibility the Oklahoma City-Bartlesville hop might be disregarded and its 125 points split up among the five remaining laps.

'FLYING FAMILY' FINISHES SECOND LAP OF TRIP TO EUROPE

aged. To the aviators it apparently meant the end of their planned flight to the same destination which Lee and Bochkon plan to fly tomorrow.

Both planes had battled a heavy fog for several hours last night as they searched for the Harbor Grace Landing Field. Lee and Bochkon brought their plane down safely on the beach at Burgeo after deciding not to risk all hopes of a transatlantic venture on an effort to find Harbor Grace. Soon after they had landed townspeople told them the Solberg-Petersen plane had flown over the beach 20 minutes previously.

Spend Night in Plane.

Bochkon and Lee spent the night in their plane, and at daybreak they let some of the air out of the tires so the wheels might grip the loose sands and finished their journey to Harbor Grace.

They planned to refuel immediately and hop off during the afternoon, but they received word from Hubert Huntington, navigator of the flight, who is directing its activities from the Barre-Montpelier Airport in Vermont, to postpone their take-off until tomorrow morning. They were requested in the meanwhile to lend all possible assistance to Solberg and Petersen. What could be done to aid the wrecked crew was not immediately determined, so Lee and Bochkon set to work on their plane.

Repair Damaged Wing.

New spark plugs were put in the motor and scores of cans which had been brought from Barre were filled with fuel. The airmen went over the motor and repaired a slightly damaged wing which was torn in the take-off from Burgeo.

For Bochkon the flight, if successful, will be a return home. He is a Norwegian by birth, served in the royal aviation corps and the field on which he and Lee hope to bring "The Green Mountain Boy" down on in Oslo is the same field from which he did most of his flying in Norway.

Back in Barre, Huntington holds the reins, although he is the flight's navigator he is remaining behind at the home airport. He keeps the fliers posted on the weather and once they take off he will have charted the position of all ships along their route and will communicate with the vessels by radio should Lee and Bochkon fail to be sighted at specific points.

JAPAN FAVORS RECOGNITION FOR NEW MANCHUKUO STATE

no remedy can be effected by having recourse either to the covenant of the League of Nations or to any other organ of what may be termed 'machinery of peace.'"

"In fact, it has been the practice of the powers, as has been demonstrated on innumerable occasions, to repair or prevent injuries to their important rights and interests in China by direct application of force without relying upon those instruments of peace.

Exercised Great Patience.

"For over twenty years Japan continued to exercise the greatest patience and moderation in the hope that some day China might soberly undertake the task of rehabilitating her fortunes and playing her proper role in the maintenance of peace in the Far East.

"China failed, however, to show any sincere desire to reciprocate our good will and kindly sentiments but increased more than ever in her arrogance and intolerance. * * * We had no alternative other than to resort to a measure of self-defense.

"There are those who argue as though the action of Japan were a violation of the Kellogg-Briand anti-war pact. But such contention has no foundation in fact. As I have stated, Japan has been forced to adopt necessary measures for the prevention of wanton attacks upon important rights and interests vital to her national existence. The antiwar pact does not put restraint upon the exercise of the right of self-defense in such a case.

Self-Defense Claimed.

"The pact does not prohibit a signatory power from taking at its own discretion whatever steps it finds imperative in order to remove immediate menaces to its territory and its rights and interests of whatever kind and obviously the exercise of the right of self-defense may extend beyond the territory of the power which exercises that right. Japan's action is essentially identical with the action that other powers have taken elsewhere in similar circumstances. * * *

"Those who seek to place upon Japan the responsibility for the Manchurian revolution by tracing the independence of Manchukuo directly to our military operations, simply labor under ignorance of the facts and their opinions altogether miss the point.

"Again, as regards those who fancy they detect a secret connection of some sort on the part of Japan with the foundation of the new state, basing their suspicions on the fact that there are in fact a number of Japanese in the employ of the Manchukuo government, I need only point to the existence of many precedents for the enlistment by the young government or newly founded states of the services of foreigners. * * *

"Manchukuo has come into being * * * as a result of separatist movements within China herself."

Violation of Pact Denied.

Saying emphatically that its recognition would not be a violation of the nine-power treaty, he asserted:

"Of course it would be a different matter on the asumption that Japan was seeking to annex Manchuria or otherwise satisfy her thirst for land. Only I hardly need to waste words in once more disclaiming at this juncture any territorial designs on our part in Manchuria or anywhere else. * * *

"It appears that in certain quarters a plan is being considered to reach a solution by patching up matters for the moment by investing China proper in one form or another with authority over Manchuria. * * * The people of Japan can never consent to a solution of that kind."

Turning to "the conditions prevailing in China proper," the foreign minister said, "As an antiforeign, especially an anti-Japanese movement still continues unabated, further complications are likely to arise in the foreign relations of China, which in turn will make her internal confusion worse confounded."

League's Report on War In Manchuria Hits Japan

Geneva, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—The League of Nations investigating commission today completed its report on the warfare between Chinese and Japanese in Manchuria and league officials did not try to conceal the fact that the conclusions will be unsatisfactory to Japan.

The outcome of the investigations made by the commission, under leadership of Lord Lytton, of Great Britain, will be of greatest concern to the league, although it is hoped to prevent developments harmful to the world eorts toward preservation of peace.

Japan has threatened to withdraw from the league and the prospect of a report by the commission harshly criticizing the policy of the Tokyo government has caused uneasiness for some European governments.

The commission report will be unfavorable to Japan, since it is based on the league covenant, the nine-power Pacific treaty and the declarations of American Secretary Henry L. Stimson.

These pacts and declarations take the position that Manchuria is still Chinese territory, and Japan has refused to accept that thesis.

JAPANESE SOLDIERS GUARDING HONGKEW

"Blood and Iron Society's" Agitation for Boycott Results in Move.

Shanghai, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—While the Chinese "Blood and Iron Society" intensified its agitation for an anti-Japanese boycott today, Japanese soldiers in steel helmets appeared again in the streets of Hongkew, one of the Shanghai districts fought over early this year.

Japanese naval officials announced they had increased their guard because of the growing anti-Japanese boycott.

Japanese headquarters assured their large national colony in Hongkew that "every precaution will be taken to insure the safety of Japanese residents against the harmful mischief of unruly elements."

A boycott by the Chinese against Japanese goods was one of the factors leading up to the clash between Chinese and Japanese troops in Shanghai early this year which evolved into a large-scale military operation before it was settled.

One of the steps in the renewed boycott agitation was a warning issued to merchants through the Chamber of Commerce. The chamber was told to warn merchants "before the Blood and Iron Society has to act."

Tension between the Chinese and Japanese has been increased by reports that the Japanese are moving additional troops into the province of Jehol, which lies west of Manchuria.

Chinese officials asserted that these troop movements were going on despite Japanese denials of any plan to invade the province.

Newspapers which usually support the national government predicted that more drastic action on the part of Japan would follow the arrival in Manchuria of Gen. Muto, the new Japanese ambassador to Manchukuo, who also has been appointed supreme Japanese military commander in that area.

Spanish War Chief On Trial for Revolt

Death Sentence Asked for Gen. Sanjurjo, Who Tried to Restore Monarchy.

Madrid, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Gen. Jose Sanjurjo, ranking general of the Spanish army and a veteran of Morocco conquest, and three other army officers fought for their lives in Supreme Court today for their part in a monarchist revolt two weeks ago.

Tonight the eight military and civil judges of the mixed tribunal retired to deliberate a verdict after defense attorneys had pleaded for leniency and the attorney general had demanded the death penalty on a charge of rebellion.

"My impression is that the judges will be forced to issue a death verdict in the case of Sanjurjo," said the attorney general as time passed without a decision, "although I expect some delay because I understand the judges are divided."

President Awards Medal To Naval Hero of 1916

For "extraordinary heroism" performed almost 16 years ago during a hurricane off Santo Domingo, President Hoover yesterday presented the Congressional Medal of Honor to Commander Claud A. Jones, U. S. N. The ceremony was held on the south lawn of the White House in the presence of Secretary Adams. Assistant Secretary Jahncke and a group of high naval officers.

The heroism Commander Jones displayed while engineer officer on the cruiser Memphis in 1916 won him the Nation's highest award. The citation read that while "boilers and steam pipes were bursting about him in scalding steam," Jones remained at his post and later rushed into a steam-filled room after the cruiser grounded to save enlisted men and fellow officers.

Army Aid Is Asked In Probe of Death

Requested to Test Gas Mask Believed Worn by Farm Entomologist.

Montgomery County police have asked the Chemical Warfare Service of the Army to test the gas mask believed to have been worn by George W. Ellington, 36, Department of Agriculture entomologist, who died Tuesday as the result of inhaling hydrocyanic gas fumes with which he was experimenting in moth eradication work.

Officials of the Bureau of Standards were asked to make the tests, but said they were not equipped to do so, said Sergt. Roy Snyder, of the county police. Snyder also has a theory that Ellington may not have been wearing the mask and walked inadvertently in the fume-filled basement, where he was found. County Policeman Frank Lane, assisting Snyder, also expressed the possibility that Ellington may have stumbled against some object and knocked the mask aside.

Funeral services for Ellington will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday at the undertaking establishment of L. M. Gawler. The Rev. H. R. Beal, of the Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church South, will officiate. Interment will be in Arlington Cemetery.

FREEDOM DEMANDED FOR NAZI PRISONERS

Sympathizers Surge Through Streets; Death Sentences Blamed on Jews.

Berlin, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Crowds of shouting and singing National Socialists surged through the strets of Beuthen, Silesia, today demanding the release of five Nazis who have been condemned to die for committing a political murder.

At the same time the rising tide of Nazi passion was indicated in Berlin by a violently anti-Semitic editorial printed in Der Angriff, the organ of Joseph Goebbels, one of the principal lieutenants of Adolf Hitler, the Nazi leader.

The demonstration at Beuthen, where the five Fascists were condemned by one of the emergency speed courts set up by the Von Papen government to stamp out political violence, made it necessary for police reinforcements to be called.

Many of the demonstrators were in the uniform of the Nazi storm troops, apparently in response to orders from Edmund Heines, a member of the Reichstag and a party leader of the district.

The anti-Semitic editorial declared the influence of newspapers owned by Jews was responsible for the Beuthen death sentences. The newspaper intimated that there would be pogroms if the Nazis came to power. pogroms if the Nazis came to power. The editorial said:

"Never forget it, comrades, and repeat it a hundred times so that you will say it in your dreams—the Jews are to blame! They will never escape the tribunals they deserve." * * *

"It was the Jews who took bread out of the mouths of German workers—who for fourteen years publicly and anonymously have ruled Germany—who have poisoned the Nation's morals—who have encouraged their police presidents to persecute patriotic Germans with clubs—who by their ear-splitting provocative talk have contributed to the awakening of the German people—and who today, in the face of 14,000,000 of patriotic people throw oil on the flames and push their cowardly audacity so far that even the mildest lamb becomes a ravenous wolf."

CHARGE OF ALTERING BOOK HEARD IN TRIAL

Auditor Testifies to Entry Changes in Case of William H. Duncan.

Entry book alterations in the accounts of his office were charged yesterday by the State in Arlington Circuit Court in the trial of William H. Duncan, former Arlington County clerk, on an indictment alleging misuse of public funds.

The prosecution did not charge that Duncan made the alterations. Collins Denny, jr., assistant State's attorney general, however, told newspapermen that the State would place on the witness stand all the employes of the office to show who had not made the changes.

The defense scored two points during the cross-examination of L. McCarthy Downs, a deputy State auditor. He identified a letter of April 4, 1931, commending the defendant for the excellent way in which the records of his office were kept.

It was also considered a defense coup when it was shown that Downs' audit disclosed a total collection of $14,227 in delinquent taxes in 1930 when an audit made previously showed $9,927.

It was at this point that the prosecution alleged the alterations of the entry book. It undertook to explain the discrepancy by saying that the first auditor, W. W. Trevellan, was misled by false entries in the record M. L. Carnifax, another auditor, said the records were changed in several instances by erasing the figure in the $100 column, thereby reducing the total of receipts. He said this accounted for the difference in the two audits.

Carnifax, in testifying to the details of the audit, said his figures came from the stubs of the receipt book, and that these totaled several thousand dollars more than the book of the clerk totaled.

In accounting for the $4,300 discrepancy in the audits involving the delinquent taxes, he said, when questioned by Denny, that the numerals representing the hundreds were erased from the entry book in several instances. He compared the entries and receipt stubs by months, from January until October of 1931.

An audit said to show a shortage of $85,000 in the accounts of Duncan was introduced earlier in the day by Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence W. Douglas. After Defense Attorney Leo P. Harlow objected, Judge Walter T. McCarthy ruled the audit admissible.

Virginia Driver Is Held For Jury in Auto Death

Arnold, of East Falls Church, alleged to have been struck by his automobile Tuesday night. He was released on $1,000 bond. William C. Gloth, former Commonwealth's attorney, appeared for the defendant.

Funeral services for Mr. Arnold will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow, from Gasch's undertaking parlors, Hyattsville, Md. Interment will be at Fort Lincoln Cemetery. Mr. Arnold is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude M. Arnold, and two children.

The Alexandria Fire Department, with its modern equipment, always presents a good appearance in parades. It is expected the local firemen will be accompanied by the Citizens Band.

Woods Searched For Young Robber

Police Pick Up Trail After Thief Flees Scene in Stolen Auto.

Arlington County police late last night were scouring the woods along the Richmond highway, a half-mile south of the Highway Bridge, for a young robber, who held up a grocer at the point of a gun and escaped in the stolen car of a Washington physician which was recovered.

The man robbed C. A. McCoy, Virginia Highlands grocer, of $18 and escaped in the visiting car. McCoy said the man warned him not to move until he had made good his escape. Police soon picked up the trail and began pursuit.

Lurching over to the side of the road, the man brought the machine to a sudden halt and scurried into the woods. The car was that of Dr. T. B. Crist, of 501 Eighth street northeast. Its theft had been reported to Washington police an hour earlier. The instruments of the physician and the car were intact.

WOMEN CONVICTED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Hyattsville Judge Also Fines Man $50 for Owning Smoke Screen.

Three out of five liquor cases tried yesterday in Hyattsville Police Court resulted in convictions, while one of three persons charged with keeping a disorderly house was convicted. In addition, a $50 fine for possession of a smoke screen, although it was not attached to the auto, was imposed by Judge J. Chew Sheriff.

Those convicted on liquor charges, each of whom was fined $50, were Mary Hall, of Fairmont Heights; Loretta Baker, of the Midway Club, at Contee, and Antonio Natoli, of Riverdale. Carl Dean and William Poindexter, charged with possession of liquor after a raid on the Midway Club, were dismissed when Judge Sheriff decided that the contraband belonged to the Baker woman.

The Baker woman was also convicted of keeping a disorderly house and fined $50. Mrs. Hall was also charged with this offense, but freed when it was shown that she was not at home when the raid was made. Ten persons who were arrested in the Fairmont Heights raid forfeited $4.50 each. Mattie A. Hughes, of Contee, was freed on disorderly house charges after she said that a bell wiring system at her place was a signal to start an electric pump. Police contended that it was to warn inmates of the house when they approached. Two persons found in the Hughes' woman's house were fined $5 each on charges of disorderly conduct.

Horace Rowe, of 738 Third street northwest, was fined $50 for having a smoke-screen apparatus in his car, and Joseph Pagioli, of 2 Logan circle, a passenger in the car, was dismissed. Pagioli told the court that Rowe had met him by accident and asked him to go for a ride in the car, and that he did not know the apparatus was in the machine. Clarence Woodson was freed on charges of stealing peaches from the University of Maryland when Judge Sheriff contended he did not have the intent to steal when he went into the orchard, but the prisoner was fined $5 for trespassing.

STARK BEATING LAID TO THEFT SUSPICION

State Blames Robbery of Detective's Mother for Severe Lashing.

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—The State told a quickly assembled jury today it would prove Hyman Stark died as a result of an "unnecessarily severe" beating administered by five policemen because he was suspected of robbing a detective's mother.

In outlining his case against five Nassau County policemen charged with manslaughter, District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards declared he would show the "third degree" to which Stark allegedly was subjected was especially rigorous because his asserted victim was the mother of Detective Joseph Hizenski.

Defense Counsel Charles R. Weeks replied by telling the jury he would produce evidence tending to show the investigation centering about Stark was entirely in the hands of Assistant District Attorney Martin W. Littleton, jr., and that Littleton was responsible for any mishap that might have occurred.

A complete alibi was promised in behalf of Deputy Chief Frank J. Tapper, one of the accused policemen.

By reaching the first witness before adjournment of the first day's session, Supreme Court Justice Johnston carried out his previously announced intention of speeding up the trial.

Selection of the jury required only three hours. Only half of the 100 veniremen had been examined when the last juror was accepted.

The capture of Stark and his three alleged accomplies was described by Motorcycle Policeman Symanski, the State's first witness. The State contends Stark was taken to a police station with such severity that he suffered a fractured larynx, resulting in suffocation.

MUSICIANS' PROTEST GETS ADAMS' REPLY

Says Marine Band Played at Notification Because It Was Duty-Bound.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Adams said yesterday the Marine Band played at the Hoover notification ceremonies because it was the duty of the band to appear on any occasion at which the Chief Executive was present.

Replying to a protest by Joseph N. Weber, president of the American Federation of Muscians, of New York, that use of the band was illegal and deprived civilians of employment, the secretary wrote:

"The Marine Band is obviously organized for the purpose of playing on some occasions. It has always been held that it was the duty of this band to play whenever the President was present, whether or not the occasion was official.

"I know of no word of law or of opinion of Congress which limits the Marine Band to play only when the President is 'officially present' as you contend.

"It is needless, I hope, for me to assure you that I have every sympathy for the musicians who are now out of employment, and I fully realize that circumstances have made the number of unemployed very large, but I must permit the Marine Band to play whenever it is the legal duty of that band to do so."

Weber had claimed in a letter to Adams that the apearance of the band was a "lawless, political, prostituted use at the request of the Republican national committee."

He contended that Mr. Hoover was not present at the notification ceremonies as President of the United States but as the nominee of a political party.

Rotary Club Hears George Otis Smith

Consumer of Electricity Gets 100 Times What He Pays For, He Says.

The consumer purchasing electrical energy receives approximately 100 times value for what he pays, said George Otis Smith, chairman of the Federal Power Commission and former director of the United States Geological Survey, yesterday in an address at the Willard Hotel before the Washington Rotary Club.

Transformation of electrical energy into terms of human energy and comparison with normal wage rates was the method by which he reached his conclusion, said Dr. Smith. He lauded the electrical industry for its work during the past 50 years in the development of the use of electrical energy.

The American electric light and power industry today reports a capital investment of $13,000,000,000 in round numbers, said Dr. Smith. After Dr. Smith's address, the Rotarians were entertained by George O'Connor, who led in a number of songs. Twenty members will participate in the golf tournament of the club tomorrow at Indian Spring Golf Club.

GUARDSMEN QUIZZED ON ARMY PROBLEMS

Enlisted Assistants Sit In on Staff Discussion at Camp Pollard.

Camp Pollard, Virginia Beach, Va., Aug. 24.—Maj. L. McD. Sylvester, regular army instructor, and Col. John A. Cutchins, chief of staff, yesterday quizzed the Twenty-ninth division staff on the first phases of its annual tactical problem. Maj. Gen. Stephan, commanding officer, presented his plans on the theoretical situation.

An unusual aspect of the conference was the presence of the enlisted assistants composing the headquarters detachment from Washington. These men in previous years had not been allowed to sit in on the staff critique.

Plans of Col. Edwin P. Conquest, of Richmond, Va., and of Col. Kenneth S. Purdie, of Lexington, Va., were accepted as logical by Maj. Sylvester. Other staff officers who were questioned were Col. John A. Oehmann, District building inspector; Col. Peyton G. Nevitt, assistant adjutant general of the District National Guard; Maj. Sydney Morgan, secretary of the Tariff Commission, and Maj. William T. Roy, assistant parliamentarian of the House of Representatives. Yesterday afternoon Col. Cutchins flew to Washington for a conference in regard to the maneuver. The plane was piloted by Lieut. Col. William D. Tipton.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"VIRGO."

IF August 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 12:35 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:20 p. m., and from 8:40 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 9 a. m. to 10:15 a. m. and from 3:30 p. m. to 4.45 p. m.

A calm and peaceful day is prognosticated for August 25, with complete freedom from emotional stress. A splendid time for concentrated thought and study. A slow time from a business man's standpoint, but a restful time for those seeking repose. Invalids will find themselves feeling better.

Children born on this August 25 will possess many of the typical Virgo traits, that is, a cool, clear intellect, a great sense of right and justice, and a loyalty toward friends. They will love and hate alike with intensity and although slow to anger, will be equally slow to forgive.

Born on August 25, you are an industrious being and very analytically-minded. As a child, you kicked things to pieces to see how they were put together, and have never outgrown your curiosity to know all about things. You never fumble at the shops and keys to any instrument until you have mastered the details of its mechanism. You like to do a thing well or not at all. You rather lack a sense of proportion as to the relative importance of things, and waste your time and energy on almost useless details.

You may be dubbed a crank about your work, but your exactitude should be sold at a premium, if you are only able to fall on your feet in the right place. You should let nothing deter you from following out any line of endeavor for which you feel you have a flare.

Tidiness of mind and neatness in personal appearance should be expected from one with your well-regulated mind. Your feelings are usually pushed into the background, and your emotions are seldom aired to the public. There are many, however, who know that you are far from a human iceberg, and your family enjoy a great depth of love from you.

Successful people born on August 25:

John Neal, editor and author.
Allan Pinkerton, detective.
William Weigel, general in United States Army.
Yvonne DeTreville, prima donna.
Francis Bret Harte, author.
Edgar Wilson Nye ("Bill Nye"), humorist.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

SUMMER STAINS REMOVED.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

For removing many of the summer stains on white clothing and sometimes on colored articles, potassium permanganate, followed by oxalic acid or hydrogen peroxide, gives very good results. As with all chemical stain removers, it is necessary to work rapidly, and to apply the permanganate with a medicine dropper, rinsing it out quickly. Many brief applications, with rinsing or neutralizing after each application, are preferable in using most chemical stain removers to allowing them to remain on the stain a long time.

Potassium permanganate can be used in removing certain stains from all white fabrics except rayon. One or more repetitions of the treatment may be necessary for persistent stains. Potassium permanganate may also be used successfully upon many colored materials, but should always be tried first on an unexposed portion of the goods in order to determine its effect on the dye. As it may harm delicate fibers, it should be used with great care.

Prepare the potassium permanganate, says the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture by dissolving one teaspoon of the crystals in one pint of water. Apply a little of this to the stain with a medicine dropper, after stretching the article to be cleaned over a bowl of water. Allow the permanganate to remain about five minutes, and then remove any pink or brown stain left by the permanganate by applying hydrogen peroxide or oxalic acid. The former is made very slightly acid with hydrochloric, acetic, oxalic or tartaric acid. This treatment is suitable for wool. Rinse thoroughly. Use oxalic acid in saturated solution (a poison) or lemon juice for cotton, linen, or silk. Follow either treatment by thorough rinsing.

Fruits and berry stains on white goods (except rayon) usually respond well to the foregoing treatment. Try it also for grass stains, dandelion stains, tomato vine or other stains from fresh green foliage, after thoroughly washing the spot with hot water and soap. Mildew, perspiration, tea, tobacco, some writing inks and turmeric stains can also be treated with potassium permanganate and a mild acid.

THE PILLAGE OF PARIS
"Nature in the Raw"— after the great French artist Luminais . . . inspired by the savage fierceness of untamed Norsemen in the ruthless capture of Paris—845 A. D.

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies
. . . the mildest cigarette
you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"— so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

SEARCH IS RENEWED FOR WOMAN'S BODY

Pilot Is Declared Blameless in Miss Fletcher's Leap Near Annapolis.

Scores of air and land searchers failed yesterday to find the body of Miss Marjorie Fletcher, 37-year-old school teacher, who leaped from a speeding plane near Annapolis, Md., Tuesday afternoon.

Directed by Sheriff R. Glenn Prout, of Anne Arundel County, the quest for Miss Fletcher's body covered an area at least 4 miles square, through woods and over open country. Roger Scott, Hoover Airport pilot, from whose airplane Miss Fletcher made her tragic leap, took a ship aloft in the search.

The hunt was resumed at dawn, it having been interrupted by nightfall Tuesday. Yesterday morning State's Attorney Theodore A. Brady stated that in his opinion no culpability is attached to Pilot Scott. He said he was convinced there was no semblance of recklessness on the part of either the pilot or the airport management. Miss Fletcher had chartered the plane for a round-trip sightseeing tour to Annapolis.

Scott has fixed the location of his passenger's leap at between 3 or 4 miles west of Annapolis. This would be in the vicinity of the Annapolis Water Co. and the head waters of South River, along which many District residents have summer cottages. The area is thickly wooded and abounds with morasses.

Robert Fletcher, college professor, brother of Miss Fletcher, was expected in Annapolis late yesterday to aid in the search and to take charge of the body in the event it is found. He lives in Oberlin, Ohio, teaching at the college there where Miss Fletcher was graduated.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McConaughy, of this city, with whom Miss Fletcher lived here, went to Annapolis yesterday and conferred with State's Attorney Brady regarding Miss Fletcher's death. They live at 4715 Forty-eighth street northwest.

I.C.C. Upholds Low Cotton Rail Rates

Shippers in Lower Mississippi Valley Are Benefited by Action.

(Associated Press.)

Cotton shippers in the lower Mississippi Valley this year will ship their cotton at the lowest freight rates on record.

For the first time in the history of American railroading they will get carload rates for handling the fiber. The Federal barge lines on the Mississippi also will reduce rates to meet the railroad situation.

The Interstate Commerce Commission announced yesterday it had turned down the request of Anderson, Clayton & Co., large cotton shippers, Gulf seaports and barge lines that the new low rates filed by the railroads be suspended. As a result, the reduced rates on cotton shipped to New England, New Orleans and Canada, will go into effect from Arkansas, southern Missouri and western Louisiana on August 27 and from other points on September 6.

Minister Is Missing; Foul Play Suspected

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Apprehension was felt by relatives today for the safety of the Rev. Rupert G. Witt, rector of Grace Episcopal Church here and chaplain of the Seamen's Church Institute, who has been missing since Monday.

Members of his family expressed fear he has met with foul play since he was wearing neither hat nor coat when last seen. The minister was last seen Monday afternoon by a seaman, who had ridden down town with him from the institute.

WALKER'S POLITICAL TESTIMONY BANNED

physicians who handled city compensation cases.

He described the procedure by which he assigned city employes suffering from injuries to the different doctors.

Gov. Roosevelt asked:

"Were you led to believe by newspaper reports that Dr. Walker had received from Dr. Mara certain sums of money?"

"I read that," was Dr. Potter's reply.

He then said that, on orders from his superior in the office of the corporation counsel, he had ceased four weeks ago to refer cases to the four doctors mentioned in connection with the charges involving Dr. Walker.

Fee-Splitting Quiz Urged in New York

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Charges that Dr. William H. Walker, brother of the mayor, and four other physicians conspired "to split fees and defraud the city" were taken under advisement today by the grievance committee of the State Board of Medical Examiners.

The city affairs committee, which has asked that the licenses of all five be removed, pleaded for a full formal hearing, asserting "it is a common scandal that this racket exists in the medical compensation work of the city."

Counsel for Drs. Walker, Harris Feigberg, Edward L. Brennan, Thomas J. O'Mara and Alfred Cassassa, argued that there was no evidence of wrongdoing and asked the board of examiners to protect the names of physicians "who had served with honor and who had no blemishes on their reputations."

The grievance committee decided to consider the matter in an executive session. Meanwhile, however, the city affairs committee was given a week to get subpenas for witnesses.

The charges, that his four associates received excessive compensation for city work and gave Dr. Walker half of their fees in return for his influence, grew out of the same testimony which is being considered in Mayor James J. Walker's hearing at Albany.

The committee ruled near the start of the hearing that it did not have jurisdiction over fee splitting, but could consider only evidence of fraud and other definitely illegal practices. Dr. Moses Keschner, presiding, also held that the remarks of Gov. Roosevelt during the Walker hearing in Albany could not be admitted.

$1,000 Prize Given Harvard Chemist

Dr. Rice Held Most Promising Under 30; Dr. Parsons Awarded Medal.

Denver, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—The $1,000 American Chemical Society prize to the "most promising young chemist in North America under 30 years of age," was presented tonight to Dr. Oscar K. Rice, of Harvard University. The award is for research in "pure chemistry" as contrasted to utilitarian. It is given because such research is held "fundamental to human progress."

Dr. Rice explained one of these purely scientific accomplishments, concerning the "theory of molecular gas reactions." In doing so he disclosed one of the odd, new facts about molecules of a gas like ether, one of the sort of things that some day may prove useful in unexpected ways.

The Priestly Medal of the American Chemical Society was bestowed on Dr. Charles Lathrop Parsons, of Washington, D. C. Established in honor of Joseph Priestly, who discovered oxygen in 1774, the medal has been awarded only four times. Dr. Parsons has been secretary of the society for 25 years and its business manager since 1931.

WHITNEY ANSWERS SENATE STOCK QUIZ

New York Exchange Head Cites Misleading Data Given at Hearings.

New York, Aug. 24 (U.P.).—Charging much of the testimony in the recent Senate stock exchange investigation "is incomplete or misleading," Richard Whitney, president of the New York exchange, today issued a comprehensive report to the membership of the exchange, calling attention "to the matters which would have been presented to the Senate committee had time permitted."

Whitney took up in detail the question of short selling which he said the Senate hearings proved did not force prices down to unwarranted levels. He denied there was any evidence supporting statements of bear raids on the market.

In his discussion on pool operations as brought out in the Washington hearings, Whitney called attention to use of incorrect prices for the high levels reached by Radio Corporation of America. The Senate figures were lower than the actual prices reached by the stock, thereby giving a misleading impression withdrawal of the pool had brought a wide decline. The price of Radio, he showed, increased after the pool had discontinued operations.

"Wash Sales" Evidence.

He said no evidence was brought out either in the Senate hearings or in the exchange's private investigations to show that "wash sales" were consummated. He explained in detail several large transactions in Radio Corporation and stated they were made privately without being carried on the tickers.

In addition to the radio pool, Whitney went into detail on the operators of the pools in General Asphalt, Anaconda and Manhattan Electrical Supply. In the latter instance, it was brought out, actual "wash sales" were engineered and misleading reports issued. The officials of the company were prosecuted by the State attorney general, and the company reorganized under new leaders.

Whitney's statements showed pool operators in General Asphalt lost $4,564,000 in their operations. The first pool in Anaconda Copper made a profit of $1,226,000, while a second pool had a loss of more than $6,391,800.

Work of Specialists.

Work of the specialists came in for a lengthy section in the pamphlet. Whitney denied the specialists have complete knowledge of all buying and selling orders in the stocks they handle. He also stated there were many safeguards to prevent the specialist from misusing the information he has. "With very few exceptions they have proved fully worthy of the confidence reposed in them," he added.

Whitney took particular exception to the Senate's figures on the valuation of United Corporation securities. Whitney's company is specialist in these stocks. The Senate placed a value of $1,400,000,000 on the issues at the high of 1929. Whitney stated this figure should have been $804,000,000 at the outside and the latter would have to include outstanding option warrants of $176,000,000. The Senate figure was arrived at, according to Whitney's deduction, by multiplying the greatest number of shares outstanding—nearly 15,000,000 common and 2,400,000 preferred in 1932—by the high price of 1929. This would be using about 7,000,800 shares that had not been issued in 1929.

Odd Sheep at Zoo Upholds Evolution Theory, Is Belief

Adherents to Darwin's theory of evolution may now take their dubious dissenters to the Zoo for a look at the short-legged sheep there which is representative of a nearly extinct species which scientists claim proves to the lay eye the mutation theory of evolution.

The short-legged animal is a recent gift to the zoological exhibition here from the Connecticut State Agricultural College. It is the third of the mutation type to appear in the world after a lapse of many years.

Early New England settlers first developed the short-legged sheep. Exasperated by continual efforts at building walls high enough to keep the sheep they had brought over with them from leaping the enclosures, they were elated when one of the "mutation" type was born in 1792 at Mendon, Mass.

The "mutation" sheep was rebred and inbred until it became the normal type. Some years later the Merino sheep, with its heavier wool coat, was introduced and gradually the short-legged type went out. The first appearance of the mutation occurred again about 8 years ago in Norway. The Connecticut sheep is believed to be the third on record, although scientists conceded that unrecorded instances may swell the number.

Was Oldest Odd Fellow in Capital; Was 52 Years at Navy Yard.

Funeral services for George R. Cook, 93 years old, of Capitol Hill, who died Tuesday, will be held at 2 p. m. today at the Trinity M. E. Church.

Mr. Cook lived at 712 Fourth street southeast. He answered the first call of President Lincoln for volunteers. He was in charge of the molding shop at the Washington Navy Yard for 52 years. He devised the plan for removing stuck gum jackets from the main tubes, saving the Government thousands of dollars. His formulae for mixing metals is still in use.

Mr. Cook was the oldest Odd Fellow in the city, both in point of years and length of membership. He was a member of the Kit Carson Post, G. A. R., and of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He is survived by three sons, R. E., Harry P. and Dr. Elmon A. Cook.

Hoover Adds Clark To Secretary List

Former Coolidge Aid Takes Over Desk of Joslin, Who Is Vacationing.

President Hoover yesterday added Edward T. Clark, once secretary to President Coolidge, to the White House secretarial staff.

Taking over the desk of Theodore Joslin, presidential secretary in charge of press relations who is now on vacation, Clark said he might be "around" the Executive Mansion for some time after Joslin's return. Although no word was given out that Clark would remain permanently, it was considered possible he might work closely with the President throughout much of the campaign.

The appearance of Clark provided a second hook-up between the Hoover and Coolidge administrations from a political standpoint, since Everett Sanders, also a former Coolidge secretary, now is chairman of the Republican National Committee. The length of Mr. Joslin's vacation is indefinite.

182,674 members of A. E. F. wounded in action during 18 months of World War.

53,650 killed in automobile accidents in U.S. in 18 months ending December 31, 1931.

Caution:

In the days of slower speeds and unsurfaced roads you were taught to put your best tires on the rear wheels—for traction. Not so today. With speeds of 40, 50, 60 and better the best tires belong on the front wheels. When a front tire blows it's seldom a minor accident—too often it's fatal.

TODAY'S MARKET is flooded with tires deliberately built to sell as low as $3.93 and similar prices according to size. Built to sell—not to serve. "Round and cheap." Put out with utter disregard for quality. Price is the pattern. The sacrifice of human life is the inevitable penalty.

When a battle for more business directly affects public safety it's time to speak frankly.

Take out quality to meet price in clothing and furniture—in fact, most merchandise—and your only penalty for buying is dissatisfaction. Not so with tires. Human safety hangs in the balance when every tire is made.

A Tire Built for 25 Miles an Hour Cannot Go 40,50 or 60 With Safety

"Bargain" tires unsafe to drive over 25 miles an hour are expected to travel up to 60 and better. They are a menace on American highways—a markdown on the value of human life.

General condemns such tires as a betrayal of the industry's clearly defined responsibility to the motoring public. General has never bid for business by lowering quality.

17.6% Increase in Sales Proves that People Want the Safety of Generals

Today our factory is working full time. Sales are going up. Six months records show 17.6% more General Tires were sold than in the same period last year. What other tire manufacturer can say that?

Generals were always worth the difference when that difference amounted to dollars. Today, with raw material costs the lowest in history, that difference is measured in pennies.

That slight additional first cost brings you the exclusive advantages of patented no-breaker-strip construction—full plies from bead to bead—blowout-proof, skid-safe protection—the comfort of 30% less air pressure—and the economy of General's famous big mileage.

THE UNSOLVED PROBLEM.

A statement by the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals expresses bitter disappointment over President Hoover's stand in regard to prohibition. The statement goes so far as to assert that the President turned his back upon loyal friends and "struck hands with their enemies and the enemies of the eighteenth amendment."

In a proposition dealing with an amendment to the Constitution there is no excuse for generating such heat as to make the controversy a matter of friendship and enmity. If the people of the United States have reached the stage where they can not consider the Constitution they have made, with a view to making it more satisfactory to them, they have abdicated self-government.

Tinkering with the Constitution is a dangerous proceeding, as a large proportion of the people now acknowledge when they contemplate the eighteenth amendment. If they attempt to change the eighteenth amendment they may make more trouble for themselves. No one can deny that utterly unexpected results followed the adoption of the eighteenth amendment. Modern framers of fundamental charters seem to lack the prevision which made the original Constitution the marvel of its kind. Nevertheless, the people of this generation possess full power to make a Constitution, and opposition to the exercise of this power is a mistake. If the people should consider it inadvisable to amend or repeal the eighteenth amendment they will say so.

Undoubtedly strong financial interests would like to sweep away prohibition, but these interests can not induce or compel the States to act against their will. Whenever a proposal to amend or repeal the eighteenth amendment is submitted to the legislatures or State conventions the question will be so sharply defined and the people will be so deeply interested that no special interest will have much weight in the popular decision. It is assuming too much to suppose that State conventions will be packed in advance by financial interests intent upon abolishing prohibition. Such an assumption presupposes that the people will be so supine and stupid that they will not be qualified to govern themselves.

A great deal must be done before the eighteenth amendment can be subjected to the test of public opinion. The framing of a substitute on the lines suggested by President Hoover is a task that is calculated to stagger any student of the Constitution. Simple repeal would bring about evils which would be equally difficult to surmount.

No good purpose is served by closing the mind on the problem of liquor control. It is an unsolved problem, and ought to be solved. The ultrawet who would have no control at all, and the ultradry who regards every one as an "enemy" who questions the perfectness of the eighteenth amendment, are not representative of public opinion.

FARM WOMEN'S MARKET.

A brave example of independent action has been set by Maryland farm women in Montgomery County, adjoining the District of Columbia. They have successfully inaugurated and are conducting a market for the sale of their products. The project is the result of the work among the farm population by Miss E. B. Turner, who has been representing the county home demonstration service and also the State extension service.

The market which has started in somewhat informal manner will be operated under more definite plans and direction as soon as an organization can be effected and arrangements made for a permanent location. Miss Turner has outlined plans for operation along conservative lines that will avoid the mistake of heavy indebtedness and overhead expenses that have caused the wreck of many such enterprises.

A cooperative organization will be formed by members who will be actual users of the market, with possibly a stock issue, but dues confined to a nominal amount. The extension service will render all possible assistance in getting the project under way, helping with a survey as to the possible scope of the enterprise, assisting in the selection of a location and helping to decide whether the market can be continued during the winter months.

For the present the Farm Women's Market stand at Leland is operated by the women on Wednesdays and Saturdays. Some 200 members are taking advantage of the opportunity to dispose of their produce, with a regular attendance of about eighty. Their prices are adjusted on the basis of a fair average as found in the retail stores, as the women marketers have no intention of setting up unfair competition. They are much pleased, however, with the start of their enterprise, which enables them to divide the profits of sales running into a few thousand dollars a week to assist family exchequers that have been reduced by the decline in prices for farm products.

ROOSEVELT'S IMPARTIALITY.

Gov. Roosevelt has promptly nullified the attempt to turn the Walker inquiry into a political squabble. He refused to admit testimony of witnesses who had been called for the purpose of showing that political motives were behind the creation of the legislative committee which investigated the affairs of New York City. It was also Mayor Walker's desire to show that Judge Seabury, the committee's investigator, had been selected by Kingsland Macy, Republican State chairman. The sole object of the investigation, according to Mayor Walker's counsel, was to discredit Gov. Roosevelt and Mayor Walker because they are Democrats.

Gov. Roosevelt, in excluding political witnesses, said:

> I'm dealing here with charges. The motives are in my judgment wholly irrelevant. The same is true as to the members of the Legislature. Testimony as to the motives of members of the Legislature or others can not be received by me.

This is good law and good political morals. If Gov. Roosevelt were a cheap politician he might join with Mayor Walker's counsel in an attempt to show that the New York investigation was a political plot intended to manufacture evidence that would discredit the Democratic State and municipal administrations. But the revelations would stand, nevertheless, and no bandying of accusations as to motives would efface them.

Mayor Walker is on trial for his political life, and is required to answer charges. Gov. Roosevelt increases public confidence in his probity as well as his legal ability when he confines the case strictly to the charges made and the answers thereto. Whatever his decision may be in the Walker case, the public will feel that the Governor has acted with impartiality, in the conscientious performance of his duty.

MISLED MINERS AND FARMERS.

Seldom has the United States witnessed the simultaneous exhibition of two such misguided efforts as the farmers' strike in Iowa and the strike tactics of the miners in Illinois. In both instances the fundamental principles of the American idea of fair play are violated. In this country no man may legally be compelled to work for wages that he does not consider adequate, and no man can be forced to sell his products for less than he thinks they are worth. But as the inseparable complement to these inherent rights, no man has the privilege of denying to his neighbor the right to sell his goods or his labor for any price he desires.

In the case of farmers they are not only holding their grain and produce for higher prices, but they are blockading the highways and forcibly preventing those who desire to sell from doing so, no matter how great the necessity may be for them or their customers. Any increase in prices forced by such expedients can at best be local in character and of very temporary benefit, probably less in substantial gains than is lost in time and sales even at lower prices for what is now going to waste in perishable products.

In the case of the miners their method of procedure is even worse. The reduction of base wages to $5 a day by the demoralized coal industry in Illinois was a step that appeared to have been recognized as necessary by most of the miners and accepted by them until they were worked upon by the walking delegates. Northern Illinois miners have gone on strike, refusing to work on the new basis. They have organized a band of 25,000 or more and in a caravan of motor trucks four miles long are proceeding to southern counties with the avowed intention of stopping the work in the coal mines there.

Such an arrogant attempt at domination by threats and violence is intolerable in this country. The authorities in the southern counties are arming forces to prevent the entrance of the advancing army, and there are suggestions that a declaration of martial law may be necessary. There is every indication that a bloody clash will result when the belligerent miners meet the volunteer force that Sheriff Robinson has recruited to stop them from entering Franklin County. The march leaders profess to believe that the county opposition will not be serious when they actually reach the border. However, with such an army of strikers invading the southern fields to persuade or force the miners to stop working for $5 a day there is grave danger of a serious situation developing very quickly.

CONTROL OF CREDIT.

It is remarkable that there should be any misconception among intelligent people of the real purpose of the loans extended to banks through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. It is even more surprising, however, that political speakers and writers pretending to enlighten the public continue to have the effrontery of referring to these loans as though the sole beneficiaries were the financial institutions themselves. Of course, that is no more true than that the recent increases in the value of stocks and bonds benefit only the stock exchanges.

It seems almost too academic to require explanation that in making loans to banks the first concern is for the depositors, and next for the prospective borrowers whose needs may be furthered by expanding the credit facilities of the institution so that it will be able to resume making commercial loans.

Support of thousands of financial institutions, railroads, insurance companies and building and loan associations has restored confidence throughout the Nation and is responsible, more than anything else, for the increase in security values that has been registered during the last two months. The interests of 40,000,000 depositors and 60,000,000 policy holders have been directly conserved by strengthening the institutions that are the holders of these securities.

Closely connected with the operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been the intelligent credit expansion carried on through the Federal Reserve system. Those who counsel adjustment of the Nation's currency needs through inflationary measures probably do not recognize the well-regulated steps which accomplish required results without the dangers attendant upon spasmodic political action by Congress.

Among the surface anomalies of the depression has been the fact that with actually more money "in circulation" than during the boom years, money was tight. The answer is, first, that there was plenty of money, but it didn't circulate; and, second, that 90 per cent of business is done, not with money, but with credit, and credit was scarce. Thus it ought to be plain that those who advocate simply inflation of the currency attack only the small end of the difficulty.

It is not difficult to appreciate that in times of uncertainty bank depositors are apt to become alarmed, often unnecessarily, and call for their funds. If the bank is not reinforced with an abnormal supply of cash a run may force its suspension. It is so elementary as to be generally understood that as soon as it becomes necessary for a bank to retain 75 per cent or more of its deposits in cash, its value as a credit institution is suspended. Bank credit is manufactured out of confidence.

Expansion of credit needs, through the operation of Federal Reserve purchases of Government bonds, is always under the control of experts who can gauge needs from day to day if necessary. As bonds are bought the funds paid for them by the Federal Reserve increase the deposits in member banks. These in turn pay off their discounts in Reserve banks, lessening their indebtedness, increasing their credit facilities correspondingly. The Federal Reserve replaces the discounts with Government bonds, so that Reserve credit outstanding is not necessarily increased. These operations, it is plain, restore to member banks a more normal status so that they can resume supplying their patrons with needed credit.

Gov. Roosevelt doesn't seem to take any stock in the argument that the exposure of New York City's bad conditions was brought about by Republicans and that Mayor Walker therefore should be exonerated.

After mature reflection Pat Hurley concludes that Gov. Roosevelt lacks that indescribable something.

Wall Street is never happy unless it falls into a bearpit or has its peaks knocked off by a low bridge.

If the Iowa and Illinois situations become much worse they may have to send for Gen. Glassford.

The deep silence of Idaho is a sure indication that Senator Borah is incubating a panacea.

LAND NOBODY WANTED

From the Minneapolis Journal.

Nobody wanted northern Minnesota in the early days of the American Republic. The vast unsettled region of forests and lakes was not claimed by the Continental Congress, and would today be a part of Canada, if the British had not outdone the Yankees in the game of give away.

A brochure by W. E. Culkin, of Duluth, on the early history of that region brings out the interesting fact that a British proposal, made following the War of 1812, actually gave the vast iron deposits of Minnesota to the United States, which had laid no claim to territory north of the headwaters of the Mississippi.

Once in early days, says Mr. Culkin, the Continental Congress even proposed the forty-fifth parallel of latitude as the boundary line.

Imagine the map of what is now Minnesota, if that line had been adopted in the boundary treaty. The Canadian boundary would have run right through the north side of Minneapolis. The Forty-fifth Parallel, marked by a boulder on Glenwood Parkway near the Nineteenth avenue road crossing, is right on the line of Twentieth avenue north, lower Broadway, and on the line of Broadway east of the river. Everything north of that line would be British, including the cities of Stillwater, Litchfield, Willmar and Madison.

All of Minnesota west of the big river at that time belonged to France. The East Side of Minneapolis was British first, then a part of Northwest Territory, while the major portion of the city was a French possession. The Louisiana Purchase brought Minnesota, west of the river, into the United States. But that was in 1803. The northern boundary between the United States and Canada had not been determined then.

When the Rush-Bagot Treaty was made, following the War of 1812, the American commissioners were surprised at the generous offer made by their British colleagues. The British proposed that the line run through Lake Superior, "northward of the Isles Royale and Philippeaux to the Long Lake; thence through the middle of Long Lake, and the water communication between it and the Lake of the Woods, to the most northwestern part thereof."

That describes what is today a large part of Minnesota's north boundary, running through the chain of lakes ending with Rainy Lake, then by Rainy River to Lake of the Woods.

The Louisiana Purchase ran only to the headwaters of the Mississippi. Evidently, American commissioners would have accepted a line drawn through the head waters, east and west, as the boundary line, but the generous Englishmen fairly tossed a third of Minnesota's present area into their laps. With it we received the princely heritage of the iron deposits.

What a wealth of minerals and timber, what a vacation paradise, would have been lost to this country and to Minnesota, if the early ideas of American statesmen had been carried into the boundary line treaty!

As you rose from table after having eaten an unusually good dinner at some Parisian hotel, did you ever stop to wonder who taught the chef to cook? In the Rue des Martyrs, on the outskirts of Montmartre, there is a professional school, where aspirants to the posts of chef and maitre d'hotel learn their art, says the Christian Science Monitor. Lessons are given in many subjects, including languages (German, English and Spanish), cuisine, table service, carving, general alimentary technology, touristic and gastronomic geography. The school is maintained by the Association Nationale des Hoteliers et Restaurateurs.

It Is Difficult for Partners to Keep Step If One Carries All of the Load

By ROBERT QUILLEN

HAPPILY married people are those who begin as equals, similar in all ways that matter, and develop in equal degree as they grow old.

No comradeship can survive if one partner stands still while the other climbs.

In the time of our fathers the climber was the husband. Increasing prosperity brought him rewards his wife could not share. He met important people. He acquired polish; patronized an expensive tailor; developed new appetites; learned new tastes. In short, he outgrew his wife.

Custom and duty kept her at home, chained to her household cares and her children, and she had neither time nor opportunity to learn the ways of a changing world. Perhaps she became dowdy. Certainly she was no longer similar to her husband.

The result was invariably tragic. If the husband had few scruples, he obtained a divorce and married a younger and more sophisticated woman or found solace in infidelity. If conscience held him to his bargain, he felt cheated of his rights and made life miserable for his wife. She, poor woman, was helpless, shamed and heartbroken.

There are such cases now, but as a rule the shoe is on the other foot.

In the upper middle class—the class composed of ordinary people who have more money than they need—the climber is the wife.

The emancipation of her sex gave her "equality" with man. She interprets this as a license to do anything that men dare to do. Equipped with leisure and money and threatened with boredom, she develops a veneer of smart sophistication and devotes her life to the business of having a good time.

Her husband shares little of her life. He is too busy earning the money she spends. He is a plow horse, a meal ticket, a provider. His wife's interests mean no more to him than his work means to her.

Again the result is tragic. It may be a divorce. More frequently it is infidelity.

The wife, feeling cheated of her rightful escort, becomes a competitor of young women who are unmarried. Usually she wins, for marriage gives her protection and she can go farther than a single girl will dare. That is one reason why girls of this class flirt with disaster. They are trying to meet the competition of "neglected" young wives.

Perhaps there is no cure for such cases, but there is a preventive. The husband can devote less energy to the getting of money that buys him nothing and thus acquire leisure to keep pace with his wife, or he can outgrow his servile unselfishness and tighten the purse strings to set a slower pace.

If one partner persists in carrying all the burden, he can't blame the other for loafing.

Which Would Be Hurt?
St. Peter (Minn.) Herald.

Gov. Roosevelt's keynote speech came out for a reduction of the tariff walls, "to enable Europe to pay off its war debts with goods." Farmers in the Northwest wonder if the walls are to be lowered on farm products, so that Europe can pay its debts at the expense of domestic agriculture, and the working man is wondering whose job among the factories that program would strike. Tinkering with the tariff always is dangerous policy, and especially is so when the Nation is just coming out of its worst economic upheaval. It would produce nothing but uncertainty for business if such a program were attempted right now, and America's scaling down of tariff walls would not bring any guaranty that Europe would do likewise.

Another Shot Coming.

The Columbus speech, being solely a criticism of the administration, is not nearly so important as the positive declarations of his own policy that Roosevelt may be expected to elaborate. But it is a logical step in the development of his case before the American people.

Mr. Curtis' Position.
Detroit News.

What difference should it make that Vice President Curtis remains a dry and favors the eighteenth amendment, as long as he subscribes to the Republican platform which demands resubmission of the prohibition question to the people?

If he is reelected, he is bound by the platform. As president of the Senate, he has no power. Under the Constitution he has no vote unless the Senate is evenly divided; and since an amendment to the Constitution requires a two-thirds vote, there can not be an even division. So what the Vice President thinks about a resubmission amendment is of no account whatsoever. He is handcuffed and powerless.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Wet and Dry Agitation Beside the Point—Recovery Delayed by Fear of Radical Legislation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I greatly fear that the wet and dry fight to control the new Congress to be elected this year will result in a Senate and House controlled by members who as senators and representatives would make fairly good store clerks or impractical minded college professors. I am a dry, but if I know that the wet candidate is better qualified to hold office and will stand for tariff protection for American industries and labor, he will get my vote, or if the dry is better fitted for office, I will vote for him.

I believe that the notion of making prohibition an issue when the Nation is suffering from depression is nothing short of unadulterated stupidity. If the wets and drys persist in following their policy they will plunge this Nation into untold depths. Wet or dry, the Nation will not regain prosperity until a majority of safe and sane Republicans control both houses of Congress. Since 1929 the Senate and House have been controlled by the Progressives and Democrats, resulting in frightening the business and financial leaders into believing that free trade and other legislation equally as stupid would be put into effect. That is one reason why prosperity has not returned before this.

Washingtonian in Kansas City Disagrees With Mr. Costello Regarding Eviction of Bonus Marchers.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read in The Post the statement of the District's Democratic National Committeeman, Mr. Costello, reprinted from a Philadelphia newspaper, in which he blames the authorities for having caused the eviction of the so-called bonus marchers from Government property in the District after the Government had given them a reasonably long time to occupy same without compensation. Mr. Costello must be the only person in Washington who felt like harboring the bonus marchers indefinitely within its limits.

It is perfectly in order for Mr. Costello, or any person, to contribute to the success of his political party, but it certainly is galling to see an intelligent man propose a thing for his home town that will redound to its disadvantage.

Dry Takes Exception to Statement as to Enforcement of Eighteenth Amendment.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Being a constant reader of The Post, I have noticed contributions appearing from time to time signed by "Virginia Democrat." I have found most of them somewhat illogical, but the one that appeared August 18 deserves a prize for peculiar reasoning.

I am a dry, but I belong to no dry organization, and I heartily disapprove of some of the ineffective methods used by certain prohibitionists. More effort should have been exercised in the 1928 campaign toward the election of dry congressmen and senators. However, when the President of the United States is mentioned as one having little to do with the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, I can only rise to protest such an assertion. Z. L. BAKER.

Knowledge Is Power and a Solace in Time of Adversity.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Recent events prove that seemingly solid fortunes, accumulated through years of toil, can be carried away during storms of depression, periods of unemployment or adjustment. Today many of yesterday's prosperous men and women face an uncertain future. The possessions they have lost were acquired largely by good fortune in a period of prosperity. There is little opportunity to regain them save through the doubtful possibility of similar good fortune in similarly prosperous periods.

Those who can face the future serenely in spite of losses are those whose ability and experience are fortified by sound knowledge. Whatever the outcome of these troubled times, their knowledge can not be taken away.

Although the earning power of many forms of practical knowledge is depreciated today, it still has definite marketable value—it is a permanent asset. And a broad background of cultural knowledge is at a premium. It provides solace and inspiration and a philosophical outlook that tempers adversity. The well-stored mind is a permanent or fixed asset.

Education is a durable satisfaction.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE LITTLE MOTHER.

The little mother sang her songs
And didn't seem to care
About the countless tiny wrongs
That pressed upon her there.
She never seemed to mind the pain
Her heedless children wrought,
But told again, again, again
How much of us she thought.

She sewed our little buttons fast
And darned our stockings, too;
Although the mending wouldn't last,
She positively knew.
She didn't seem to mind at all
Her endless round of toil
Or fret o'er pleasures, great and small,
Which little children spoil.

Above the moans of broken sleep
Her lullabies she'd sing,
Nor think it worth her while to weep
About some shattered thing.
The pain we caused, the needless care,
'Till she was called above
Were burdens she was glad to bear,
So great is mother love!

PREPARING AN END-PLAY.

THE necessity of early preparation for an end-play is equally important whether your plan of attack be a squeeze or a thrown-in. I demonstrated the importance of this early preparation for a squeeze last week.

In preparation for the squeeze, it is necessary to give up certain tricks early in the play so that both you and the opponents can have their cards reduced to the proper amount in order to force discards.

In preparing for an elimination play, it is very often necessary to give up a trick early in the hand rather than later, to prevent the wrong hand from getting the lead and making a play which would spoil your final coup.

South—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠ Q J 4 3 ♡ A 5 2 ◇ A 4 ♣ 7 5 3 2
♠ 10 ♡ Q 9 7 4 ◇ K Q 10 3 ♣ K J 8 6	N W E S	♠ 9 5 2 ♡ J 10 8 6 ◇ J 9 8 2 ♣ 10 4
	♠ A K 8 7 6 ♡ K 3 ◇ 7 6 5 ♣ A Q 9

On the above hand, South was the Declarer at a four spade contract. It is readily seen that no possible line of play can lose more than three tricks, and if the club finesse is right, five-odd can be made. The difference between making four- and five-odd may not seem very important to many players. However, in tournament play, particularly Howell match point play, the difference between making four and five may be the difference between an average score and a cold top. Therefore, whether you are playing for a top score in a tournament, for the extra points in Rubber play—which will later be translated into dollars and cents—or for the pure scientific joy of making the maximum out of the hand, there is only one correct line of play to attempt to make this over-trick.

West opened the King of diamonds. Declarer should immediately take stock of the hand—which, incidentally, this Declarer did do—and before even playing from the Dummy, he should realize the possibility of stripping hearts and diamonds from the hand and forcing a lead up to his club tenace. However, before doing this, one diamond must be lost. If Declarer goes up with the Ace of diamonds with the intention of later giving up a diamond trick, it will not be difficult for East to take this diamond trick and lead through Declarer's clubs. Therefore, Declarer plays low from Dummy on West's King of diamonds; as East quite naturally can not overtake this, and a diamond trick must be lost anyhow. Now, no matter what West continues, South will have complete control of the hand to do with as he wishes. He takes the second round of diamonds or whatever else West might shift to, draws the trumps, and ruffs the third heart from Dummy in his hand, and then ruffs the last diamond in his hand with a trump from Dummy. Now the stage is set. A club is led from Dummy, and unless East plays an honor, South will play the 9. West takes the Knave, and now whatever he does Declarer must take the rest of the tricks. Had East put up the Ten of clubs, South would have played the Queen, and the situation would have been just the same.

The final end-play itself is quite obvious and easily seen, but it is only made possible by ducking the first diamond trick, as, had South not done that, East would have been able to take the second diamond trick and led a club through South. West would have taken the trick, and would have been able to exit with another diamond, and later would have cashed another club trick, holding the contract to four-odd.

Today's Pointer.

There is a particular technique which a player must master if he is to find the extra tricks so frequently available by means of an end-play. A successful end-play frequently requires the timing of the taking of a trick in a particular suit so that the adversary you do not wish to obtain the lead may be prevented from securing it.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

East—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	♠ Q 9 7 ♡ 6 4 2 ◇ J 8 4 ♣ 9 8 3 2
♠ 8 ♡ 7 5 ◇ K Q 10 9 3 ♣ K Q J 7 6	N W E S	♠ A 6 4 ♡ K J 10 ◇ A 7 2 ♣ A 10 5 4
	♠ K J 10 5 3 2 ♡ A Q 9 8 3 ◇ 6 5 ♣ —

Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

SOME TOOTHACHE REMEDIES.

THE remedy for toothaches that most people know about is oil of cloves. It is supposed to be applied on cotton. A small wad of cotton saturated with this remedy is placed in the hollow of the complaining tooth. The remedy is good enough for the circumstances which fit its use. In the hands of the dentist it is fine. That functionary cleans out the cavity nicely, then dries it, and skillfully places the drop of clove oil where it will do the most good.

Unfortunately for the popularity of the method, toothache has a way of its own. It develops in the night mostly, and in places to which a dentist is not handy. When mother tries to put cotton in the hollow of the tooth along about 1 o'clock in the morning she is apt to fall in her undertaking.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who tried to minister to a few thousand inmates at Leavenworth, found this matter of expert tooth service around midnight theoretically all right, but practically difficult. He found that powdered acetyl salicilic acid was excellent as a relief measure. The powder is applied to the tooth, to the gums around the aching member, and to the part of the tongue near by. The patient is told not to swallow the powder for 5 minutes, anyhow. He found the remedy to give excellent results. Anybody can apply it, by any kind of a light, at any hour of the night. The drawback to it is the ease with which it is applied. Using it is so easy that most persons overdo it. When overused it may cause small ulcers like apthous stomatitis. However, these heal easily and quickly.

Acetyl salicilic acid, finely powdered, has considerable ability to relieve pain. It is used as a gargle for this purpose; also as a dusting powder for painful ulcers.

Another remedy for the relief of toothache is that proposed by Dr. J. E. Keefe. It consists in spraying the back of the nose and the path to the throat with alcohol.

One wonders if trichlorethylene by inhalation would not be efficient in relieving the pain of toothache, as it is in that of trifacial neuralgia. The cause of toothache is neuralgia of the nerve of the tooth. Decay is almost always the secondary cause. Putting clove oil in the cavity or hollow has the advantage of putting the remedy just where it is needed. Another advantage is that the dentist cleans out the cavity before he puts the cotton in place, and he may bore a little and let out some gas. If any other method is used the cavity is liable not to get the immediate attention it needs—the service the pain is calling for.

EAT IN MODERATION.

W. A. G. writes: 1. What are some do's and don'ts regarding the eating of food to reduce blood pressure?

2. Is sassafras bark all right?

3. Have you a booklet on high blood pressure?

REPLY.

1. Diet is not of first importance in blood pressure. To eat in moderation is advisable. Gorges are harmful. Small meals consisting of simple, plain foods, with stress on quantity rather than articles of diet, is good advice, according to present notions.

2. Yes, but it has no effect on blood pressure. If you want to try a domestic remedy, experiment with watermelon seed tea.

3. Yes. Send 10 cents and stamped, addressed envelope.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Carole Lombard Praises Twofold Benefits of Beauty Treatment and Bath.

I LOVED Carole Lombard in "Sinners in the Sun" with Chester Morris. Didn't you? I remember this peppy Paramount star well. That bit of grand swimming she does in the picture is real. For swimming and tennis are her favorites. She depends mostly upon these two forms of exercise to keep her figure fit for the most exacting and revealing lines. If you've seen the picture mentioned above you'll agree that these exercises do a splendid job for Miss Lombard. Doesn't she wear the undies, pajamas and form-fitting gowns with an enviable air?

More about her gowns—she prefers black for street costume and white for evening, as do most of the stars.

And more about her figure—Spinach for lunch every day, not more than three courses at any one meal, and pastries and potatoes are eliminated from the diet. Three good hints right there for those who would keep slender without starving.

Cream for Skin.

In spite of her beautiful figure, this phase of beauty was not the first she stressed when I asked her "Have you any special pet beauty secret?" Spontaneously and with assurance Miss Lombard said "Always use creams on skin while taking hot bath, thus making the benefits twofold." That's her special bedtime beauty rite; thorough cleansing, then a generous application of nourishing cream which is allowed to remain on the skin while taking the hot bath.

Those of you who, in spite of pleas and warnings, have allowed summer to coarsen your skin, will find this creaming excellent to soften and lubricate. Try it every night for a week and in place of a heavy leathery appearance you'll soon notice, delightfully, soft, youthful smoothness returning. After the bath, blot any excess cream away with a tissue, but leave a thin film overnight. Remove remaining cream the next morning, sponge with skin tonic, then pat briskly until skin tingles and finish with ice rub. Your skin should be glowing with new beauty. Now make-up.

Miss Lombard's daytime make-up calls for powder the same shade as her skin, no rouge but an orange lipstick and no eye make-up, other than a little oil. By the way, it is surprising how many screen favorites merely touch brows, lids and lashes with vaseline or oil during the day. For evening, suntan powder, no rouge, orange lipstick, blue eyeshadow and black mascara. And—oh, yes—the Paramount stars were among the first to bob their hair some months ago, just when long hair was pronounced the vogue. That's how the stars win distinction; making their own fashions.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Last night at San Francisco's smartest hotel, I sat in the shelter of a big red velour curtained window and watched. Outside, the city of all loveliness and dreams wrapped itself in its fog veils of mystery, and watched with me. The few isolated skyscrapers disappeared at about the fourth story into the fog, where, hidden from the prying eyes of pygmied mortals standing on the glistening wet sidewalks, they held who knows what commune with who dares guess what gods.

Ah, San Francisco perennially young, preserving your youth by wrapping yourself in refreshing and renewing fogs year after year, yet resting securely in the glamour of past glory. Virgin gold gleams and winks at me in a million lights through the fog—Stevenson and Twain, London and Sterling leave the vale of shades to wander wraith-like along your copra and cinnamon scented waterfront.

I resent San Francisco being called the Paris of America! I, who have lived in Paris for years, say that Paris has not one-tenth the real beauty, the charm, the sheer topographical beauty of San Francisco. To one, let us concede age, tradition and fourteenth century architecture—but to the other, let us in real fairness give mystery and beauty, and unusual charm which is too intense to be properly called quaint, and perennial and self-renewing youth.

* * * * *

I think that the street dress that I designed for you today is going to bear a lot of explaining, so here goes. First of all, I'm so fond of suede cloth, and it really is so perfect for an autumn's street outfit that one wears without a coat, that I have selected that as the material, in a cinnamon brown. The buttons, which are ever so important to this costume, are cloth-covered and exactly match the dress. But the wrap-around skirt and the oddly shaped cape, which, by the way, can be taken right off leaving the buttons on the shoulder of the dress, are lined in a very dark brown silk moire.

Now what you are wondering about is whether that is a belt or an incrustation that raps the lovely lady around and around and outlines her figure, isn't it? Well, some of it is belt and some of it is incrustation—'nif I told you just how that was all done, well, there wouldn't be any need for you to have any Dah-ray to design for you at all!

The gloves must be brown suede, the shoes in both shades—the lighter and the darker, but in kid, and the tiny and extremely unusual hat which could only be worn with such a coiffure as illustrated, and then would have to be pinned to the hair, is of dark brown velvet with an adorable little golden bird perched on it! Yes, the whole thing is a Dah-ray idea and design.

Au revoir.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

(Professor Auguste Piccard, in a twelve-hour ascension into the stratosphere, rose more than ten miles into the air—the greatest height ever reached by man.—News item.)

* * * *

PROF. PICCARD, the big cosmic ray and stratosphere man, took off over a national network from Zurich and made a perfect landing halfway between the Walker hearing and Vice President Curtis' acceptance speech.

* * * *

Zurich was chosen on the theory that Geneva and Lausanne were not entitled to all the publicity. It proved that at Zurich you can get bigger headlines on less gas.

* * * *

The professor flew over the Alps and landed in Italy by special permission of Mussolini, the copyright owner.

* * * *

The first thing he did upon landing was to ask, "Where's a telephone? I have gote to phone my wife."

* * * *

This shows that although a man may have rare courage while he is in the air he reverts to normal as soon as he gets back on earth again.

* * * *

"HELLO, dear," said the professor, "I'm back all right."

"Where have you been?" demanded the wife.

"Oh, just up in the stratosphere," he replied.

"No matter how you slice it, it's still ballooney," replied the little woman, if she is the average wife.

* * * *

And high as the professor got, he was still 6 miles below Radio Corporation common's record of 1928-29. "Boy," said the professor, referring to that record, "that was altitude!"

* * * *

The earth looked the same as last year from 10 miles up, said Prof. Piccard, although not quite so red. On last year's flight his view was largely blotted out by conferences, huddles and emergency meetings. All he could see clearly was creditors' meetings.

* * * *

This year, at 2,600 meters, he encountered heavy buying of American securities, and at 3,000 meters he passed through groups of brokers saying they were good at that level.

* * * *

The flight of Prof. Piccard was followed with breathless suspense by Mayor Jimmy Walker and Gov. Roosevelt, at Albany.

* * * *

But the professor wired at once that he had found no trace of the missing Russell Sherwood.

DRUG STORE WINDOW SHOPPING.

Oh, yes, I am an optimist,
An old-time Pollyana; hence,
Still hopefully I seek to find
A book I want for nineteen cents.

APHASIA.

A REAL HAVEN.

THERE'S this to be said in favor of a balloon trip to the stratosphere: You get away from people who are looking for a fourth at bridge.

But there's probably some fellow even up there who is selling magazines to get through college.

PLACING THE BLAME.

At the pass or Annie Oakley gate at a baseball park recently a fan who was getting in on a free ticket became, believe it or not, indignant when told he would have to pay a 10-cent tax. He grumbled volubly.

"Well," piped a fellow behind him, "that's what you get for voting for Hoover."

No refilling station ever looks so neglected as the corner house it replaced.

Another Irish "Army" Formed by Young Men

Dublin, Irish Free State, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Another Irish "army" appeared today, sponsored by Frank Aiken, Minister of Defense, and bearing the name of the "National Guard."

Already there is the Irish Republican army, an organization which frequently has given some trouble, and a "white army" organized to offset the activities of the Republican army. The new organization is to be a volunteer reserve in which young men weaned from the republican army will be trained and drilled to protect the De Valera government against the threats of extremists.

Lower Costs Enable State to Economize

Richmond, Va., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—A reduction of one-third in the fuel cost of State buildings, cuts in food costs of about 20 per cent and lowered prices on general commodities and mechanical supplies averaging more than 10 per cent are enabling State agencies to weather Gov. Pollard's economy order without any unusual disturbance in the State's pay roll, it was learned today.

British Scion Is Firm In Aim to Wed Actress

Paris, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—John Amery, son of the adviser to the British delegation at the recent imperial economic conference in Ottawa, said today that he is determined to marry Una Wing, an actress, despite his family's opposition and difficulties with legal technicalities.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

STATISTICS compiled by the Columbia network reveal that during June, July and August more than 183 hours of symphonic and vocal selections from the classics were heard through its Nation-wide facilities.

An average of an hour and three-quarters of classic music was presented daily during the summer months. Outstanding among these symphonic broadcasts were the Lewisohn Stadium Concerts, which occupied 40 hours of broadcast time during the eight weeks the concerts were on the air. Another series of symphonic broadcasts presented the Toscanini Fund Concerts.

Howard Barlow's nightly programs with the Columbia Symphony Orchestra comprised 46 hours of network time during three months.

Gov. Roosevelt will go on the air via WMAL at 8 o'clock tonight from Albany with what is expected to be an appeal to the public for campaign funds for the Democratic party. Gov. Roosevelt will be joined in the program by James A. Farley, national chairman; Evans Woollen, of Indiana, and former Governor Harry F. Byrd.

SELECTIONS from Perusch's "The Beggar's Opera" will mark Cesare Sodero's concert orchestra presentation over WRC at 10:15 o'clock tonight. Although in its time a popular composition, few conductors have presented it over the air. Sodero will lead his orchestra in "Kamarinskaya," by Glinka, and "Une Nuit a Lisbon," by Saint-Saens.

"See you in the funny papers" is an appropriate salutation for Teddy Bergman, radio character actor. Last Thursday Teddy made his farewell appearance as Joe Palooka, comic-strip prize-fighting champ, and tonight makes his debut in a featured comic-strip role as "Meyer the Buyer."

During the three years Teddy has been on the air he has played more than 865 different character parts and has 20 dialects at his command.

DOT WILDMAN, Washington radio pianist, and Frank Connolly have collaborated on a new song entitled "You're So Different From the Rest." The Capital night club orchestras have been supplied with copies and it may be heard any night now on one of the late local dance band broadcasts.

The weekly "Hollywood on the Air" program (WRC, 11 p. m.), will be devoted almost entirely to the new RKO picture, "Bird of Paradise." Dolores del Rio and Joe McCrea will present excerpts from the feature and Leslie Howard is expected to act as narrator for a portion of the program. The musical program will be provided by vocalists and a native Hawaiian orchestra.

"A Radio Editor Abroad" is the title of a radio talk by Jack Foster, who has just returned from a European trip. Foster devoted the greater part of his time to a study of broadcasting in England and on the continent, contrasting the methods employed in different countries to those in vogue in the United States.

The Upstaters Quartet will sing Schubert's "Serenade" as its feature number over WRC at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The quartet is composed of John Dandurand, tenor; Roger Sweet, tenor; James MacDonald, barytone, and Chester D. Vadder, bass. David Buttolph is the accompanist.

Down South Vocalizin' by Those Boswell Sisters and Nat Shilkret's arrangement of "Soliloquy" will be ushered in by Norman Brokenshire for "Music That Satisfies" (WMAL, 9 o'clock) tonight.

COMPLETING another famous work in his series of serialized symphonies, Howard Barlow will direct the orchestra (WMAL, 10 p. m.) in the finale of Dvorak's "New World" Symphony.

Dodgers Bow to Cubs, 7-4, in Opener

Chicago Lead Is Now 4½ Games; Doubles Feature Attack.

Root and Smith Hold Robins Safe After First Frame.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—The Cubs arose in their might as league leaders today and turned back the first bid of the upstart Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 4, as the "crucial series" between the National League's leading pennant contenders opened.

It was more than a mere victory for the Cubs, although it went into the records only as a triumph that increased their lead over Brooklyn to 4½ games. It was a dignified assertion of their right to the lead.

Brooklyn took an early lead, scoring twice off Charley Root in the first inning, but the Cubs opened up in the fourth, put over four runs to take the lead and swatted their way to what was to all appearances an easy triumph. Root pitched steadily from the first inning to the seventh, when he hit a streak of wildness. Then Smith took over the job and finished it expertly.

Evans, Seeking 9th Title, Beaten in Western Golf

Eliminates Don Moe, Defending Champion, in First Round and Then Bows to Arthur Bartlett; Semifinals Today.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Charles "Chick" Evans, Chicago's famous veteran of the fairways, turned back the challenge of youth in the Western amateur golf championship today only to be rubbed out of the big show by age and experience.

Charging over the stretches of the championship Rockford Country Club course, Evans displayed his old-time form in the morning to dethrone the defending king of the Western amateurs, Don Moe, of Portland, Oreg., 1 up, but in the afternoon he looked up with 48-year-old Arthur Bartlett, of Ottumwa, Iowa, and fell 2 down.

Evans' losing fight to stay in the race for a crown he has worn eight times was the high spot of the day, which saw stars from Iowa, California, Wisconsin and Texas sweep to victory in the upper bracket and four Illinois entries dominate the lower salient. But Dick Martin, Chicago district champion, was escorted out of the title picture in the day's biggest upset.

Martin, second to Johnny Lehman in the medal fight with 140 to Lehman's record 137, was defeated by Richard Ashley, an unknown from Kenosha, Wis. Ashley shot a hole in one on the seventeenth in ousting his morning victim opponent. Bob Cochran, former Western junior champion from St. Louis, 3 and 2.

Matches the rest of the route will be 36-hole affairs, with 18 holes played both morning and afternoon.

Tomorrow's pairings:

Upper bracket—Bartlett vs. Seaver, Ashley vs. Moreland.

Lower bracket—Lehman vs. Armstrong, Couch vs. Banks.

Levey's Home Run In 11th Defeats A's

Browns Win, 5 to 2, After Dykes and Foxx Tie Game With Homers.

Philadelphia, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Jack Levey's home run with one on in the eleventh inning gave the St. Louis Browns a 5-to-2 victory over the Athletics today after the Macks had tied up the battle with two homers in the ninth.

The Athletics were trailing by two runs when they came into the ninth, and Rabbit McNair and Jimmy Dykes jumped into the breach with a four-bagger apiece to deadlock the game. The Athletics' other run also was a homer—the forty-fifth of the season from the bat of Jimmy Foxx.

Ruffing Wins 15th; Batting Aids Yanks

Indians Are Routed by 9-3 as Brown and Winegarner Are Pounded.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Charley Ruffing had little trouble scoring his fifteenth victory of the season today as the Yankees pounded out a 9-to-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Ruffing not only pitched an eight-hit game but he contributed two doubles and a single to his own triumph. The Yanks pounded out 16 blows off Clint Brown and Winegarner.

The game looked tight for just two innings with Cleveland holding a 1-0 lead as the result of Bruce Connater's single and two Yank errors in the first. But in the third the McCarthymen cut loose with four hits, topped off by Tony Lazzeri's homer and took the lead, never to lose it.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code)

—By Ken Kling

Asbestos spied a baby at Hawthorne that finished out of the money on Monday, but watch him today. The code name is 24, 4, 8, 15, 8, 5, 8, 2, 11. At the close of yesterday's business, Asbestos' bank roll is $29.60. Joe's bank roll is $207.60.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 24.

If there is anything that I haven't said about Hawthorne, I can't recall it at the moment. I have spent half of my time telling you what to expect from such mediocre fields and poor jocks.

You could have ridden Panchio and won today, still that is all a part of the game.

I knew a barber once named Smitty. He was an awful good barber, and tiring of shaving others he developed a system to trim the bookies. He called it the "Sunshade System" for some unknown reason and when last heard of was making out fine. I never quite understood what it was all about. It seems that he took all the handicappers selections, divided them by two and subtracted five pounds from the top weight and if the horse then carried 110 pounds he was worth a plunge.

Well, you need some such system here, for in no other way can you explain how some of these gee gees come ambling home alone. If I can't locate Smitty and the "Sunshade," I will dig you up another one. Good luck, pal. Yours, BILL.

FIRST RACE—A tough bunch to pick from with OSWEGO PRINCESS, HERNANDO and SALLIE BOURLAND seeming the best in the order named.

SECOND RACE—PIECEMEAL failed to show his true form in his last outing. JACKSTAFF is the contender with CRIMEAN LAD close up.

THIRD RACE—JOURNEY'S END will have BROAD MEADOWS to beat and should do it. HOT SHOT may show.

FOURTH RACE—SWIVEL should come home all alone, followed by MISS MELODY and TABUKA.

FIFTH RACE—HYGRO should be able to handle the weight. LADFIELD and PAIR BY PAIR for place and show.

SIXTH RACE — TRYANDAGAIN should draw on top and be able to hold the lead until the end. OH DAVE and UNENCUMBERED figured in the money.

SEVENTH RACE—TADDYWAWA is in light and is the speed of the party. LA FERIA for place and MISS MYRTHA to show.

EIGHTH RACE—Better pass this one up, Al. It is a real tough one, with ONO, DON TASKER and PRINCESS A. A. all having a look in.

Stocks Win Higher Ground Under Leadership of Rails

5 to 10 Point Advances Defeat Losses; Sales, 3,691,000 Shares.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Prices backed and filled in considerable confusion during most of today's session in the stock exchange, but a sharp run-up in rails in the last hour pulled the general list higher.

Some of the more thinly traded rails shot up above 5 to 12 points, but most gains at the finish were limited to a point or two. The market absorbed rather heavy profit-taking in most of the traditional leaders during the middle of the day, many of which were off temporarily from 1 to 3 points, but most of this recession was recovered later. The day's turnover of 3,691,800 shares was some 900,000 less than yesterday's.

Bulls managed to keep the list fairly well in hand during most of the day. Buoyant features were the hard coal carrying railroad issues. Since most of these are involved in the Eastern merger plan, rumors of impending developments were stirred up by their strength.

Delaware & Hudson, which is left independent in the merger plan, shot up to close 12½ points higher. Reading, which reported July net of $649,779, a good increase over that of July of last year, which was $136,135, shot up 10 points to 48, a new high for the year. But Lehigh, which reported a moderate operating deficit for July against a small profit a year ago, also reached a new high for the year, and closed up more than 5 net. Lackawanna rose 10 to 34, a new top for the year. Norfolk & Western, a bituminous coal carrier, turned strong as well, closing 8 points higher, in a light turnover.

United States Steel common was slightly lower during most of the day, although it closed up a fraction. The preferred rallied about 3 points.

Curb.

Further gains added despite lighter trading. The turnover was 400,000 shares. Profit sales reduced gains.

Wheat.

Spreading operations and lack of outside interest sent wheat prices down. Corn and oats lost also. Argentine harvest areas reported larger.

Cotton.

Advances of $2.75 to nearly $3 per bale resulted from heavy buying. The general market was up 47 to 50 points.

Steel Awaits Relief In Early Autumn

Labor Day Is Expected to Be Followed by Recovery.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Throughout the steel industry there is a belief amounting virtually to a conviction that an improvement of at least moderate proportions will make itself felt soon after Labor Day, the Iron Age said today. But in spite of this confidence Steel Ingot is barely holding its own this week at 14 per cent of the country's capacity, unchanged from last week.

"In the valley," said the review, "where motor-car steel requirements are such an important factor, production is not above 10 per cent. The Ford Motor Co. will resume operations on September 7 and while some other large automobile plants will not increase activities until October, a resumption of steel buying by the motorcar manufacturers is expected by mid-September.

"Railroad buying has not developed but several roads are expected to enter the market next month for rails and track supplies. The Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio are the only roads which have made known an intention of applying for loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for equipment programs, but there is hope that President Hoover's economic conference in Washington on Friday will serve to expedite these and other projects that are dependent on Government financing."

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—Trading was cheerful and active on the stock exchange. A number of gains were registered especially in textile issues, Paris favorites and transatlantic shares, speculators extending their activities. Japanese and Argentine bonds eased and the market closed steady.

Paris—Following the New York market, prices on the bourse continued their good orientation while transatlantic issues showed progressive tendency. Bank shares showed good gains while rentes were slightly lower on profit taking. The closing was firm.

Berlin—Prices were unsettled on the boerse and the closing was slightly weaker.

BONDS RECORD LOSS AFTER PROFIT SALES

Late Rally Trims Decline to Four-Tenths; Trading Totals $16,287,000.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—The bond market's speculative category was somewhat severely shaken today by a profit-taking onslaught that dislodged from 1 to 5 or more points from the recent gains of the leaders. Support arrived near the close, however, and many of the heavier losses were cut down substantially.

Sales totaled $16,237,000, par value, more than $3,000,000 under yesterday's aggregate, and the average for 60 selected corporate bonds declined four-tenths of a point. This was the third small average decline since July 1.

Today's relapse was attributed partly to an "overbought" condition of the market. It was pointed out that a number of rails and utilities had advanced some 300 per cent from their lows of the year.

Losses of fractions to 3 or more points, after the late recovery, were recorded by some loans of Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Boston & Maine, Canadian Pacific, St. Paul, Rock Island, Chicago & Nor Western, Denver & Rio Grande and Erie.

The industrials held about even, with some of the oils and rubbers firming moderately and a few specialties advancing on small sales.

The United States Government group was quiet and slightly easier. Foreign obligations were fairly firm, the Australians and some of the South Americans advancing a point or more. The Germans were irregularly lower.

Electric Power Production Shows Best Gain Since 1929

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Electric power production for the week ended August 20 showed the best gain for that week since 1929, the weekly report of the National Electric Light Association disclosed today.

A gain for that week, as compared to the previous week, is a normal seasonal development, but this year the total production of 1,431,910,000 kilowatt hours reflected a gain over the week ended August 13 of 16,788,000, while in the past two years, the gain was little more than 14,000,000. In 1929, it was 16,946,000.

CURB CLIMBS HIGHER IN LIGHTER TRADING

400,000 Shares Sold as Profit Taking Resulted in Lower Gains.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—The curb market added further gains today to its recent price advance, although there was enough profit-taking to give stocks somewhat irregular tone at the close. Transactions totaled 400,000 shares against 540,000 yesterday.

Utilities were again the principal center of activity, with gains being restricted to more moderate proportions than in the earlier days of this week. Electric Bond & Share common, however, moved up 2⅞ points, to 29½. Cities Service was steady and the low-priced American Superpower advanced fractionally.

The oils showed a hesitant tone, although current statistical reports were considered favorable.

Aluminum Co., Parker Rustproof, Ford of Canada and Newmont were higher. Singer Manufacturing, after an early burst of strength, ended the day at a net loss of 1 point.

National Biscuit and Iten Plants Effect Merger

Omaha, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—O. H. Barmettler, president of the Iten Biscuit Co., today announced the merger of the Iten Co. with the National Biscuit Co.

WHEAT VALUES SAG IN SPREADING DEALS

Liverpool Prices Weaker; Argentina Is Harvesting Larger Acreage.

Chicago, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—Persistent "spreading" operations and an almost complete lack of outside interest gave the Chicago wheat market an easier undertone today. Trade was light with "spread" traders selling Chicago wheat against simultaneous purchases at Winnipeg, doing the bulk of business. The Liverpool market was also weaker, affected by French crop reports and by official estimates that the 1932 Argentine wheat acreage would exceed last year's harvest by almost 2,000,000 acres.

Wheat closed easy, ⅜ to 1½ under yesterday's finish; corn, weak, ⅝ to ⅞ down; oats, steady to ⅛ off, and provisions steady to 17 cents higher.

The 1932 Argentine wheat acreage is officially estimated at 12,240,000 acres, compared with 17,288,000 actually harvested last year.

The September delivery of corn made a new low for the crop, breaking below 30 cents for the first time to sell at 29⅝ cents a bushel.

Provisions were fairly strong, trade being narrow and generally between commission houses.

COTTON ADDS $2.75 PER BALE IN GAINS

General Market Moves Up 47 to 50 Points; Aided by Heavy Buying.

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—A spectacular advance of $2.75 to nearly $3.00 per bale in cotton today was attributed to heavy general buying prompted by expectations of a sharp reduction in crop estimates and encouraging exports from the cotton goods trade.

December contracts sold up to 8.47, an advance of 56 points from the previous closing and $15.85 per bale higher than the June low. July contracts sold to the 9-cent level. December closed at 8.44. The general market was up 47 to 50 points.

As prices worked upward interest evidently broadened, and the market became active and excited during the afternoon with active positions selling 55 to 59 points net higher at the best. The advance carried October up to 8.31 and March to 8.72, but was checked by realizing at these figures and the close was some 5 or 10 points off from the best.

Liverpool cables reported hedging and liquidation in that market, but said a fair business in cloths was pending in Manchester. Exports today, 5,135 bales, making 302,652 so far this season.

Better Copper Prices Abroad Cheer Market

New York, Aug. 24 (A.P.).—The copper market was cheered today by reports from abroad of firming prices in the metal. Sales in British and Continental centers ranged from 5.45 to 5.55 cents a pound.

On the London metal exchange 5.65 cents a pound was quoted for unspecifiable electrolytic and 5.80 cents for specifiable copper. The domestic market was steady with the metal still holding at between 5¾ to 5¼ cents a pound delivered to the end of 1932.

Antagonism toward the proposed site of the Farm Women's Market of Montgomery County on the Bachrach property in Bethesda was aroused by a disgruntled owner of an industrial site turned down by the farm women, Miss Blanche A. Corwin, deposed home demonstration agent, who now is manager of the farm market, declared last night in a statement.

Miss Corwin declared the farm women had noted the seven-point program proposed by Dr. T. B. Symons, director of the extension service of the University of Maryland for the farm women. The proposals are opposed by the women, she said, and in most instances they are far ahead as they already have accomplished those applicable.

Insinuation Resented.

"However, the insinuation that an 'enormous debt' has been projected or that we have invited any antagonism other than that aroused by a disgruntled holder of an industrial site which we could not use and which Dr. T. B. Symons himself considered unsuited to our needs, is resented. That our market should be made the goat in such a real estate squabble is surely most unjust," Miss Corwin stated.

She further declared that it would seem "even those extension experts who failed when they tried to establish a farm market in Washington a few years ago would realize that the overhead to the sellers can not be more for the same accommodations because they are purchased rather than rented." She said suggestions that this expense can be avoided by some "vague proposal of the extention service" can only be misleading to the sellers.

Cites Cramped Quarters.

"We don't want any vacant laundry building or other site in a railroad yard or with inadequate approaches or parking facilities and hesitation in providing adequate facilities for our business, which already exceeds $1,500 a week, will be fatal to its success. Our present cramped quarters have already become not only very inconvenient in selling, they are even now the source of friction, but also a nuisance to the community, and a just cause for complaint," Miss Corwin averred.

She said the extension service, of course, will aid in every way possible since it could not refuse to aid one group of farm women while offering aid to another. "It does seem to me, however, that entering a factional squabble over legal questions can do no one except lawyers and politicians any good, and it is to be hoped that the extension service will not undertake to promote any such situation. It would assure the failure of the whole project by hopelessly involving it in politics, and while successfully cheating me out my position might not be of much public concern, the same could not be said for stopping the flow of money now started into those districts of the upper county where it is so badly needed," Miss Corwin concluded. The farm market operated yesterday at its usual stand and will be open again Saturday.

Siren Aids Red Light In Mount Rainier Fires

There's a traffic light at the main intersection in Mount Rainier, Md., and it goes red when the fire engines go out, but some motorists pay no attention to it, so the fire department has installed a siren at the intersection which will blow as long as the red light is on.

The siren was installed yesterday, a few weeks after the red fire signal equipment was put in. When the engines leave the fire house, a button is pushed, which turns the light red against all traffic.

EMERGENCY PHONE LINES IN OPERATION

Arlington County Police and Fire Departments Are on New Switchboard.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Cla. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Urban efficiency henceforth will mark handling of calls for fire, police and other emergency assistance in Arlington County.

A central switchboard connecting with all such—and many other—county agencies, went into operation yesterday. Clarendon 2488 is the new number. Citizens are urged to write it down.

The service will be on a 24-hour basis. The operator should be informed if the call is of an urgent nature and it will be rushed through. All six fire companies are on the circuit and this hook-up will enable the immediate notification of the nearest company. Previously all fire units had responded to first alarms in the county.

Other county offices connecting are: County manager, treasurer, clerk, commissioner of revenue, sheriff, jail, Commonwealth's attorney, health department, superintendent of schools and other Arlington County officials.

Miss Bernice West has been appointed day operator and William R. Munson and Vaughn K. Kelly will be night operators. John A. Deuterman, manager of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Virginia, has promised all cooperation.

Hijacking Victim Bares Refusal of Bribe Offer

Harvey Ferguson, of Meadows, Md., victim of an alleged hijacking last week, told Prince Georges County police yesterday that he had been offered $125 to drop charges of assault with intent to kill against two men. Ferguson said he refused the offer.

Ferguson and his uncle, Frank Ferguson, were attacked and beaten last week by four men as they were driving a car which they said contained fifteen cases of alleged whisky. Later Houston Greenway, of Clinton, and Ralph Ignatius Harbough, of Washington, were arrested and charged with assault on Ferguson. They will be given a hearing on August 30.

SANDY SPRING FETE STAGED BY FIREMEN

Is Attended by More Than 1,000; Nick Altrock Umpires Baseball Game.

More than 1,000 persons attended the annual carnival and supper of the Sandy Spring Volunteer Fire Department last night at the Sherwood High School, Sandy pring, Md. Nick Altrock, of the Washington Baseball Club, umpired a baseball game and delighted the audience with his antics. Dayton, Howard County, won the game from Colesville by a score of 16 to 15.

One of the most interesting sections of the program was the pony and horse racing and pony show. Thomas Ladson made a clean sweep of all the first prizes with his string of six ponies. He won the silver cup for the best pony with Jim and the three saddle classes with Betty, Jury and Prince. He also won the pony race.

First place in the flat race and the steeplechase for half-breed horses was won by Hector, owned by Dr. Francis Janney, of Baltimore, and the thoroughbred flat race and steeplechase were won by Fairmont, owned by Whitney Atchison, of Laurel.

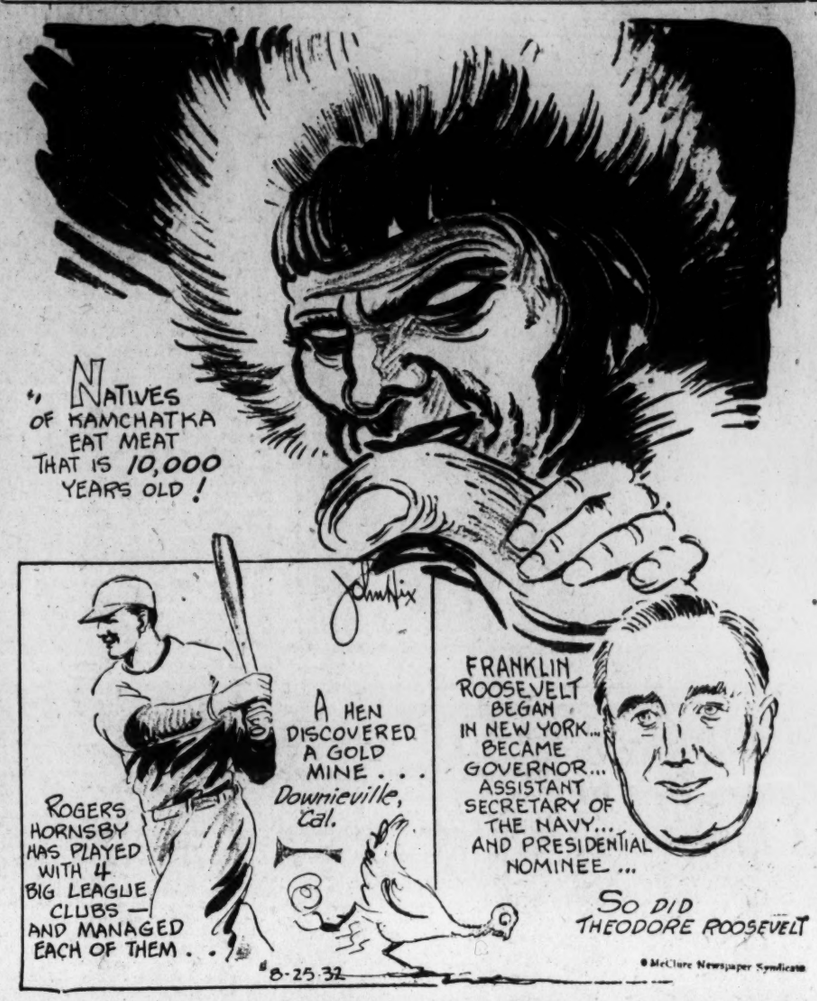
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix



An apparently unlimited supply of mammoth beef was placed in cold storage by nature at some prehistoric time when countless numbers of these great animals were killed in some unexplained way, and frozen in the ground of northern Asia. The mammoth, it is indicated by cavemen's drawings, lived about 10,000 years ago.

Natives of Kamchatka centuries ago found that this ancient frozen meat was edible. They have used the mammoth for food and fuel for hundreds of years. Since the tenth century, mammoth ivory taken from the north country has been sold commercially.

20 NABBED IN DRIVE ON "UNDESIRABLES"

Poolroom Raided Under New Glassford Order; 8 Held for Investigation.

Under verbal orders from Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, the burglary squad, commanded by Detective Sergt. Larry O'Dea, last night started a series of raids which are to continue "indefinitely." The idea of the raids is to rid the city of "undesirables." Gen. Glassford believes hangers-on in poolrooms are responsible for much of the petty crime in Washington.

The first raid last night netted twenty persons arrested in a poolroom in the 400 block of Pennsylvania avenue northwest. All were fingerprinted. Eight were held at the Third Precinct station on investigation charges, but the others were released.

These men will be held until they are thoroughly investigated, according to police. If any police records show up and the men are wanted elsewhere they will be turned over to other jurisdictions.

All of those held, except one, gave out-of-town addresses.

DriverAdmits Kidnaping Story False, Police Say

Police yesterday reported that James H. Owen, 27, Cherrydale, who drives a milk truck for the Chevy Chase Dairy, yesterday signed a statement that his story of being robbed and abducted to a lonely spot beyond Fredericksburg, Va., was false.

A search for Owen was begun when his milk truck was found abandoned early Tuesday. He told the robbery story when he reappeared yesterday.

Boy Drowned in Effort To Outswim 2 Others

One of three colored boys swimming last night in the Eastern Branch, near Twenty-eighth and M streets northeast, was drowned when he attempted to outdistance his companions in a race across the river.

At a late hour last night police had failed to locate the body of the drowned youth, William Boone, 12 years old, of 1601 Meigs place northeast. Companions declared he disappeared beneath the surface before they could reach him. The two, Raymond Taylor, 13 years old, of 1135 Sumner street northeast, and James Ross, 12 years old, of 1149 Sixteenth street northeast, were held for questioning.

Sewing Machines Asked To Make Needy Clothes

The District Chapter of the Red Cross last night issued an appeal for donations and loans of sewing machines to be used in making clothes for the needy.

Clothing for boys and girls going to school will be the first garments made at the local chapter. Material for the garments has been obtained through exchange of cotton turned over to the organization by the Federal Government.

Suspect Quizzed In Train Robberies

Police Trying to Link Man Held Here in Series of Thefts.

Said to have escaped from a round-up of alleged freight train robbers in Lancaster, Pa., last week, Richard Michael, 40, colored, who was arrested by local police last Friday, is being questioned in connection with a series of train robberies which were staged in the vicinity of Lancaster.

The robberies were staged by a gang who boarded moving trains and threw merchandise to waiting confederates. Five colored men arrested by Lancaster police were charged with felonious entry and larceny. Michael was charged with housebreaking and is being held at the District Jail pending grand jury action.

The five men arrested and Michael were said to be leaders in the robbery organization. Their assistants are thought to be hiding in Perryville, Md., and in Safe Harbor, Pa. The loot totals thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise, according to police.

3 Men Sought in Theft From Clothing Store

Three men are being sought by police in connection with the burglary early yesterday of the clothing store of Samuel Kravitz, 2713 Nichols avenue southeast.

The men broke into the store by sawing bars on a rear window and escaped with clothing valued at $97. Police surrounded the bridges and Maryland roads leading from Anacostia in an effort to catch the burglars.

Hit-Run Driver Eludes Police.

Maryland police are still looking for the hit-and-run motorist, who is thought to have struck Wilbur Christiansen, of Beulah, Iowa, on the Defense highway near Bladensburg. Christiansen is at Casualty Hospital, where he is thought to have a fractured skull.

Store Robbed of Cigarettes.

A quantity of cigarettes and candy was stolen from a grocery store at 5037 Connecticut avenue yesterday by thieves who sawed through the bars on a rear window. Dabney Mahone, manager of the store, reported the theft.

Taxi Drivers Ask Police to Add to Force

Union taxi drivers have gone on record for more policemen to enforce the laws most affecting them.

That is the gist of a resolution adopted by the drivers, the provisions of which, if adopted by local authorities, would, in the opinion of the organized individual hackers, obviate many ills.

Ten additional hack inspectors are asked of the District Commissioners by the taxi drivers—Taxicab Drivers and Chauffeurs' Union, Local 169. These men, to be drawn from the ranks of the police force, would augment theexisting five-man personnel of the Office of Public Vehicle Inspectors and Guides.

Officials of the union claim several hundred taxis, at a minimum, are being operated on the city streets without having taken out the new licenses, which sell at $25, compared to $9 previously.

The law regarding cruising on certain streets is "being broken on an average of 200 times a day," said the resolution.

Pinafore Opera Sung Tomorrow

Work to Be Rendered Entire at Sylvan Theater.

H. M. S. Pinafore, Gilbert and Sullivan's popular opera, will be sung by the Estelle Wentworth Opera Group at the National Sylvan Theater in the Washington Monument Grounds tomorrow night, beginning at 8 o'clock.

It will be the first time an opera has been sung in its entirety in the Sylvan Theater. If successful, other operas will be given next season. Pinafore will be presented without settings, except the natural one of the outdoor theater.

The audience will be asked to imagine that the action is taking place on the deck of a British man-o-war at anchor in a harbor. Costumes appropriate to the story will be worn by the 50 singers. The presentation is under the auspices of the Community Center Department, the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks and the National Capital Civic Fund.

Boys Club Fete Opens Tomorrow.

The Mount Rainier-Brentwood Boys Club will hold a festival tomorrow and Saturday nights at 7 o'clock at Bunker Hill road and Thirty-fourth street, Mount Rainier.

Lunacy Hearing Set For Aimone Slayer

Cassel Examined by Alienist and Opinion Written, Petition Says.

Frank Cassel, indicted as the slayer of Dr. Victor A. Aimone, superintendent of Mount Alto Hospital, yesterday, through his attorney, A. A. Stern, petitioned the District Supreme Court for an inquisition by a lunacy jury as to his mental stability.

Cassel declared he had been unable to confer with his attorney. He said also that Dr. D. Percy Hickling, District alienist, had examined him and had formed a written opinion as to his mental capacity.

The hearing will be held tomorrow. Cassel shot and killed Dr. Aimone July 13 when he went to visit the Mount Alto Hospital. When he was arraigned on a charge of murder he stood mute, and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. At that time he was carefully guarded by deputy marshals, who feared he might attempt violence. Since his indictment Cassel has been held at St. Elizabeths Hospital.

Worker, Removing Tree, Hurt as It Falls on Him

A tree which was being moved from Thirty-first and Tennyson streets northwest yesterday fell on one of the workmen engaged in the project, pinning him to the ground.

The man, Herman Jackson, 25, colored, of Silver Spring, Md., was released by fellow workmen. He was admitted to Emergency Hospital with a fractured right collarbone and several fractured ribs.

TELEPHONE HEARING OFF UNTIL MONDAY

Delay to Give Roberts Time to Study Reproduction Cost as of Present.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. practically concluded its presentation of testimony yesterday afternoon in the telephone rate inquiry being conducted by the Public Utilities Commission, and the hearing was adjourned until Monday morning to give William A. Roberts, special counsel for the commission, time to study the final and most important exhibit showing a reproduction cost new, less depreciation, of $36,008,622.

Although the commission intends to offer some corrected exhibits and the telephone company witnesses are in for some stiff cross-examination, indications are that the hearing will be concluded next week.

While the reproduction costs set up by the commission and the utility are widely divergent, it is apparent that the former is confronted with an extremely difficult task if it carries through its previously announced intention of reducing telephone rates in the District.

Is Open to Question.

The telephone company has carefully and slowly built up a financial picture of its operations which, while open to question because of methods of calculation used, is on its face certainly not indicative of any appreciable reduction in rates. Unless the commission is able to reduce this figure considerably and sustain its reductions, there will be no cut in telephone rates before a prolonged valuation proceeding, which will take at least a year and perhaps longer, if then.

The wide margin between the reproduction costs compiled by the commission and the telephone company are traceable chiefly to their divergent methods of computing depreciation, plus the addition of a "growing concern" value of $4,000,000 by the telephone company.

The telephone company holds that its reproduction cost as of December 31, 1931, is actually $39,095,072, based on 1932 cost levels, and that its depreciation is only 9.1 per cent. Thomas R. Tate, valuation engineer for the commission, contends that the company's reproduction cost now is $31,449,323 and that depreciation is actually about 25 per cent, bringing the final cost down to approximately $23,000,000. Excepting the $4,000,000 for "going concern" value, for which Mr. Tate allows nothing, the two reproduction costs now vary by only $3,645,749, of which $682,444 is accounted for in working capital alone.

Actual Physical Condition.

The fundamental difference between the methods of the commission and the telephone company in computing depreciation is that the former includes obsolescence and inadequacy in its estimates, whereas the latter takes into account the actual physical cnodition of the plant or equipment and leaves obsolescence and inadequacy to the depreciation reserve fund, which has been taken out operating expenses.

The commission also contends the company's reserve funds are too large, despite the heavy depreciation. While it is unable to apply any of this accrued money to rate reductions, it might reduce the amounts applied in the future.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

WASHINGTON, largely without knowing it, yesterday participated in a series of transoceanic felicitations, attendant upon the consummation of an affiliation of American and British interests of some importance in the film industry.

Marking the first international alliance in the motion picture industry, Hubert T. Marsh, managing director of the British and Dominions Film Corporation, Ltd., with headquarters in London, and Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, with headquarters in New York, simultaneously announced yesterday afternoon that the latter corporation has contracted to release B. & D. pictures in Great Britain, Canada, Australia and India and that a supplementary agreement ultimately will extend the contract to include all the countries in the world.

Managing director Marsh made the announcement in London at a banquet at 9 o'clock in the evening—3 p. m. in Washington and 11 a. m. in Hollywood. After making it, he called Mr. Schenck by phone at the Mayflower in this city, where another considerable group listened in and then extended the telephone connection to Hollywood, where Mary Pickford, Ronald Colman, Samuel Goldwyn, Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor, Charlie Chaplin and numerous others whose names are not foreign to the U. A. lot exchanged greetings with the American and English executives perched in front of the amplifiers here and in London.

One of the interested participants in yesterday's goings-on at the Mayflower was Louis B. Mayer, vice president in charge of production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, one of United Artists' most active and most successful competitors, who probably gained admittance by walking in backward so they would think he was coming out!

Or maybe it was for purposes of taking Joe Schenck to the White House, where he has frequently been a house guest, to lunch with President Hoover that Lou Mayer was present. Either explanation is defensible!

Although as a star of the cinema she has been in partial eclipse for the past several years, sufficient glamour still attaches to her early appearances on the American screen to make Pola Negri's first visit to the Capital in the flesh an occasion of quickened pulses, high temperatures and general excitement.

It is therefore with the earnest admonition to sit down and relax and take it as calmly as you can that we announce that Miss Negri will arrive in Washington by airplane this afternoon and will be met at Hoover Airport by Carter Barron, city manager of the Loew interests, and a group of executives, dripping cold perspiration and all broken out in gooseflesh!

Miss Negri will appear at the Fox for the week beginning Friday in a dramatic playlet, "Is This Love?" written expressly for her by Jack Lait. She will be accompanied on her air trip here by her leading man and personal secretary according to New York advices.

It may not be amiss to offer the reminder that while her American-made pictures were all well enough, it was in "Passion," "Gypsy Love" and "One Arabian Night," produced by Lubitsch on the other side, that she set fire to the screens of this country! They were, of course, the stories of Du Barry, Carmen and "Sumurun," set to Americanized titles.

Next week's complete lineup, incidentally, will be as follows: Earle, Lionel Atwill, Lee Tracy and Fay Wray in "Doctor X," opening this midnight, and Everett Marshall and Hal Le Roy coheadlining the vaudeville; RKO-Keith's, Adolphe Menjou and Mayo Methot in "The Night Club Lady;" Palace, George Stone and Preston Foster in "The Last Mile;" Metropolitan, Joan Blondell and Stuart Erwin in "Make Me a Star;" Loew's Fox, Spencer Tracy and Peggy Shannon in "The Painted Lady," and Pola Negri and Georges Carpentier coheadlining the vaudeville; Columbia, Edna Best and Herbert Marshall in Edgar Wallace's "Bachelor's Folly."

"Bachelor's Folly?" Come, come, fellow, don't get personal!

Beating Victim's Condition Serious.

He is suffering from a crushed chest, broken ribs, severe cuts and shock. Police said he told them the name of his assailant. No arrests have been made.

Long, Washington, third vice president; Harvey H. Weber, Buffalo, N. Y., treasurer, and L. M. Augustine, Baltimore, secretary.

Samples of clothing valued at $274 were stolen from the automobile of Elvin M. Shissler, of Driscol Hill, Pa., when he parked it in front of the Capitol Park Hotel, where he was staying, yesterday. The thieves broke the glass in a front door of the car to gain entrance.

2 AIRCRAFT TOURNEY MARKS ARE BROKEN

George Leffler, "Ace," Keeps His Fuselage Model in Air 17 Minutes.

Two records were broken yesterday in the competition of the third day of the District Model Aircraft Tournament. George Leffler, "ace," flew his fuselage model out of sight, registering an endurance record of 17 minutes and 19 seconds, and Blair Bennett, flew his helicopter for the record time of 2 minutes and 26 seconds.

At the close of the day, Leffler continued to lead in the point score in the "ace" class with 34. His nearest rival was Everett Meeks with 21 points. Morris Krucoff led with 33 points in the "pilot" class. He was closely pressed by Morris Arkin with 32 points. In the "junior pilot" class David Fegan's 28 points placed him in the lead. Carl Clarke and Edward Arkin followed with 23 points each.

Outstanding flights in the helicopter event were achieved by Jack Friedman, Bob Wiehle, Morris Krucoff and August Tolzman. The contest in gliders resulted in Edward Grannis, 1931 champion, leading the "aces" with a 16 second flight; Bill Kennon headed the pilots in this event. It remained for the junior pilots to make the record in this event as Edward Arkin achieved 38 seconds.

Judges for yesterday's events were Lieut. Thomas F. Combs, Prof. Louis Crook and Paul Edward Garber. The final indoor contests will be held tomorrow at 9 o'clock at McFarland Community Center. The events will include contests in flying true scale models, gliders, R. O. F. fuselage and baby R. O. F.
